REDS FIGHT NAZIS FROM HOUSETOPS

FARM PARITY LIFT OPPOSED BY PRESIDENT

RISE IN COSTS OF FOOD AND LIVING THREATENED

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt and two of his high-ranking aides swung into action today to block a movement in congress to boost the farm parity formula—a movement which the president warned would destroy all possiblity of stabilizing the cost of living.

The chief executive made known his "unalterable opposition" in a letter to the chairmen of senate and house banking committees, which are at work on price and wage control legislation in response to his demand for action by October 1 against inflation.

Proposal Criticized

Soon afterward Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and Price Administrator Leon Henderson also expressed opposition to the new parity formula. This formula, which would include farm labor costs in the parity index for the first time and thus raise the index, is embodied in legislation offered by Representative Seagall (D-Ala.), prominent in the farm bloc.

At a press conference, Wickard said it "would tend to increase the cost of living and raise to some extent the whole price level of the country."

Henderson sent the house banking committee a letter which, as outlined by committee members, criticized the Steagall proposal sharply. It said the result would be a substantial rise in the cost of food and clothing, and hence general increases of both wages and prices.

Roosevelt Holds Whip

Though there were reports that some members of the farm bloc might still urge enactment of the new parity formula, many other congress members doubted that it could go through in view of President Roosevelt's opposition.

In addition to holding veto power over legislation, he has said that if congress does not pass an adequate anti-inflation bill by October 1, he himself would act.

The senate banking committee gave its attention to other aspects of the control bill today. Senator Brown (D-Mich.) said the committee tentatively decided to place a floor under farm prices by authorizing government loans of 90 per cent of parity, as compared with 85 per cent loans now authorized.

It also tentatively agreed, Brown said, to write into the wage section of the bill the "little steel wage stabilization" formula laid down by the war labor board. This provided, in general, that wage increases of up to 15 per cent over the January 1, 1941, level would be permitted to compensate for rising living costs. The board reserved the right to depart from the formula to correct substandard wages, or to remedy inequities. A clause permitting the rectification of "gross inequities" is also contained in the legislation.

Salaries Include Bonus

The board, at the time of handing down its policy, said a "round of wage increases" had already raised most wage levels well over the January 1, 1941, levels. Senator Brown said today that Chairman William H. Davis of the labor board had estimated the "little steel" formula would provide a wage level different from that prevailing at present.

Explaining further decisions by the committee today, Brown said:

"As a protection to wage earners and salaried men who get bonuses at the end of the year, that factor has been taken into consideration in stabilizing wages and salaries."

He explained that if a man's salary was $2,500 a year and he

FERGUSON HITS CAMPAIGN TRAIL

Brown's Opponent for Senate Says He'll "Speak Plainly"

Lansing, Sept. 17 (AP)—Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson of Detroit, the Republican nominee for U. S. senator, told news men here today he would hit the campaign trail Monday or Tuesday in his contest with the incumbent Democratic senator Prentiss M. Brown, of St. Ignace.

He conferred on campaign plans with a group of Republican elective officials.

"It won't be a 'kid gloves' campaign," Ferguson declared at a press conference. "I'll speak very plainly."

He said he planned to be on the road much of the time from the start of next week until the general election November 3, traveling by train and bus "where there are schedules to get me where I have to be," but traveling by automobile elsewhere.

Much of his campaign, he said, would be criticism of the failure of congress to adopt earlier amendments to the tax laws to finance the war effort.

"The people should have known a long time ago what taxes they will have to pay in 1943," he asserted, "but the congress still is arguing about exemptions for special groups just to get votes."

Taylor Returning To Post In Vatican On Special Mission

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull disclosed today that Myron C. Taylor had resumed his mission as President Roosevelt's personal representative at the Vatican and would remain stationed there for a limited time.

Taylor returned to this country from Vatican City a year ago for reasons of health, and it was while he was recuperating here that Italy declared war on the United States.

Word that he was returning to his post despite wartime transportation and communications difficulties aroused much interest both here and in foreign capitals, and there was some speculation as to the significance of his return at this particular time.

More U. S. Troops Landed In Britain By Large Convoy

London, Friday, Sept. 18, (AP)—The Daily Mail said today that another large contingent of U. S. troops, including hundreds of army technical experts, some air force personnel, and anti-aircraft and transport units, have arrived in Britain.

The troops, whose arrival date was not given, were said to have had "a fast peaceful" Atlantic crossing, escorted by British and American warships and RAF flying boats in the final stage.

GOVERNOR LAUDS CIO

Lansing, Sept. 17 (AP)—Governor Van Wagoner today complimetnted the national CIO committee for American and Allied war relief for its pledge to donate one hour's pay a month through the CIO war relief program for the benefit of the armed forces and the nation's Allies.

Farm Machinery Stocks Are Frozen In Michigan

Lansing, Sept. 17, (AP)—Preparatory to establishing a program of farm machinery rationing, all stocks in the hands of dealers were frozen in Michigan effective today, Maurice A. Doan, chairman of the state farm war board, announced.

Doan said the rationing program has been delegated to the department of agriculture and will be handled on a county level by special rationing committees composed of county AAA chairmen and other farmers appointed by county farm war boards.

Farm machinery, Doan said, would be classified in three groups, the first comprising equipment which is scarce and urgently needed and which will be sold only upon approval by county rationing committees.

Machinery in the second group will include items somewhat less scarce and may be sold upon certification by the farmer to the dealer, while the third group embraces smaller items which may be sold without restrictions. There will be no restrictions on sale or transfer of used farm machinery, equipment or repair parts, Doan said.

The classification list:

Group A—Beet lifters and loaders, combines, corn pickers, disc harrows, feed grinders, fertilizer spreaders, grain drills, grain elevators, hay bailers, lime spreaders, manure spreaders, milk coolers, milking machines, pickup balers, potato diggers, shredders and tractors (including garden tractors).

Group B—Includes most other faarm equipment and machinery.

Group C—Hoes, rakes, forks, scythes, shovels and all hand-operated and one and two-horse drawn farm machinery and not included in Group A.

Doan said purchasers of group A equipment must turn in replaced equipment and agree to rent or loan the new machinery on specified terms and conditions. Applicants refused certification may appeal to the state farm war board or federal authorities.

Equipment in group A must not be purchased later than Oct. 31, 1942, Doan said.

NO SURRENDER IN MADAGASCAR

Vichy Rejects British Terms, Will Fight to the Limit

(By The Associated Press)

London, Sept. 17— Surrender terms laid down by the British have been rejected by the outnumbered Vichy French defenders of Madagascar and they have decided to fit "to the extreme limit," Vichy announced today.

The day after the colonial Governor General Armand Annet had, on his own responsibility, requested the British for terms to halt the fighting, Vichy broadcast a communique saying the British stipulations "appear to be unacceptable to such an extent" that Annet could not even consider them.

"All measures are being taken to continue the struggle despite the disproportion in forces and means," the radio continued.

The British, meanwhile, were believed continuing their advance toward Tananarive, inland capital of the island, which began when the Royal Navy and the Royal Air Force attacked three key points on Madagascar's west coast Sept. 10.

The principal fight appeared to be on the road to Tananarive, the capital, 230 miles southeast of Majunga, one of the three key ports captured by the British last week.

Eagle River Man Is Hurt In Detroit Automobile Mishap

Detroit, Sept. 17, (AP)—William E. Smith, 80, of Eagle River, one of the state's oldest probate judges in point of service, was in Highland Park General hospital today with a fractured pelvis, suffered Wednesday when he was struck by an automobile as he stepped from a curb here.

Mrs. Rose G. Smilay, driver of the car, told Highland Park police that Judge Smith walked directly into the path of the automobile.

Judge Smith, who recently rounded out 35 years on the bench, was given a leave of absence by the Keweenaw supervisors a short time ago to undergo treatment at the University hospitall in Ann Arbor. He was recuperating here as guest of two daughters, Mrs. Don R. Case and Mrs. William A. Hohl

FATHER NAMED IN DRAFT BRIBE

Retired Farmer Charged With $500 Offer to Get Son In 4-F

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 17 (AP)—Charles Weber, 66, of near Byron Center, waived examination today before U. S. Commissioner John D. McDonald on charges of offering a $500 bribe to a draft official in an effort to gain a 4-F classification for his son.

Weber was released on $5,000 bond until his case comes before the November term federal grand jury.

Mr. Wilson McFarlin, chief of the western Michigan division of the FBI, said Weber was arrested by FBI agents as he handed the money to Lowell L. Wilson, clerk of the Allegan county draft board No. 1.

McFarlin said Weber, who is retired, had sought the 4-F classification for his son, Clarence, 43, who manages his father's farm. The younger Weber is unmarried, and although not yet classified, has been ordered by his draft board to report for a physical examination.

Weber had approached Wilson with an offer of a bribe several days ago, United States District Attorney Joseph F. Deeb said he had been informed Sunday by Sib Rumery, chairman of the Allegan board. Deeb informed the FBI, which filed a complaint with McDonald.

ALLIES PUMP GUNFIRE INTO BASE AT BUNA

BARGES SUNK, FIRES BURN UP JAP FUEL DUMPS

BY MURLIN SPENCER

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Friday, Sept. 18 (AP)—Allied planes pumped 35,000 rounds of cannon and machine-gun fire into the Japanese invasion base of Buna in New Guinea to destroy or damage at least 15 barges and start fuel dump fires visible for 25 miles, a communique said today.

The destructive fighter plane attack on Buna, which feeds the overland drive toward Port Moresby, occurred while Allied ground troops were locked in "sporadic fighting" with Japanese jungle troops at Ioribaiwa, only 32 air line miles from Port Moresby.

Marines Under Pressure

Allied planes also made attacks on Japanese bases in New Britain, northwest of the Solomons where U. S. marines apparently still were holding their own despite heavy Japanese pressure.

In a night attack on the big new Britain base of Rabaul "our heavy bombers raided enemy installations and the wharf area," the communique said. "Bombs were dropped on building dispersal areas, causing explosions and starting several fires visible for 30 miles and destroying grounded aircraft.

"Another attack was made by a single unit during the early morning hours."

One bomber unit also attacked Gasmata on the southern New Britain coast, but with "unknown results."

Long Haul for Supplies

The heavy aerial stab at Buna had the twin objectives of relieving enemy pressure on the Allied troops defending the approaches to Port Moresby, and at the same time dry up the Japanese source

SONGS SEEN AS BIG WAR NEED

Hitler Uses Marching Air to Advantage, Maddy Declares

Lansing, Sept. 17. (AP)—The nation's war effort needs more marching songs and less boogie-woogie, Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, president of the National Music Camp at Interlochen and chairman of the Michigan Defense Council's Committee on Wartime Civic Music, asserted today.

"The national airs of our enemies are marching songs, those of America and England are not," Maddy declared. "Hitler claims his soldiers march 33 per cent farther when they sing as they march. We've got to fight Hitler with Hitler's weapons, not ours. We've got to develop a fighting spirit here at home."

Dr. Maddy proposed, in a report to the council, that marching songs be played and sung in all schools at the opening and close of day, between classes and at assemblies; at theaters between shows, and as special features; at eating places during meals; at clubs at the opening and closing of programs, and at factories between shifts and at lunch periods.

He suggested the training of men who would start gatherings singing "spontaneously" with direction from the platform.

Nominee Refuses August Pay-Check

Lansing, Sept. 17 (AP)—Judge Homer Ferguson of Detroit, Republican nominee for U. S. senator, today had returned his August pay-check of $583.33 to the auditor general's office in keeping with his announcement in July he would take a year's leave of absence from the Wayne country circuit court without pay.

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown said the returned check was his first official notice that Ferguson had taken leave. He said he had no authority to stop Ferguson's salary and that the judge would have to return each monthly check to be turned back into the general fund.

PEDALS 182 MILES

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 17. (AP)—Pedalling 182 miles on a bicycle from her home town of Benzonia, Mich., Miss Jessie M. Small arrived today to take her WAAC examination. She made the trip in three days. She said she wants to pedal for Uncle Sam as a messenger.

American U-Boats Sink 4 Jap Ships, Damage 4 For Grand Total Of 107

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—America's undersea campaign against Japan's vital western Pacific supply lines has resulted in the destruction of four more enemy ships, the navy announced today, and four other vessels have been damaged in recent operations.

A communique said that submarines had reported two large freighters, one medium sized freighter and one small patrol boat sunk. Damaged were a large tanker, which was left afire, a large freighter, a large transport, and a medium sized cargo ship.

The operations in which these successful attacks were made, raising to 107 the sub toll of Jap ships thus far announced by the navy here, apparently covered a period of several weeks and were not related to the continuing campaigns in the Solomon or Aleutian islands.

As the submarine communique was announced, there was no new word on conditons in either of those two areas to add to last night's report that heavy aerial blows had been dealt the enemy in the Aleutians and that marines were still holding their Solomon positions after strong enemy efforts to dislodge them.

A communique No. 128, said:

"Far East:

"1. United States submarines have reported the following results of operations against the enemy in far eastern waters:

"(a) Two large freighters sunk.

"(b) One medium-sized freighter sunk.

"(c) One small patrol boat sunk.

"(d) One large tanker damaged and left afire.

"(e) One large freighter damaged.

"(f) One large transport damaged.

"(g) One medium-sized cargo ship damaged.

"2. These actions have not been announced in any previous navy department communique, and are not related to operations in the Solomon Islands."

LEGION HOUSING PROVES PUZZLE

Members Begged to Stay Away From Convention In Kansas City

Kansas City, Sept. 17 (AP)—The American Legion is begging the members to stay away from its national convention.

As the Saturday opening neared, officials worried that habit might prove too much for many Legionnaires and that they would show up despite advice to the contrary.

All rooms in both residential and downtown hotels were reserved. They already were taxed by soldiers, quartered here for technical training.

The arrival of every train put the housing committee in a dither.

"I hope," said convention chairman James Young, "that no one comes unless he already has reservations."

Even the chamber of commerce, hitherto anxious for overflow attendance at conventions, worried just a bit. It didn't have any idea, either, where it could put unexpected visitors to the convention.

Legion officials set out three months ago to streamline the convention by encouraging all of the 1,125,000 members except the 1,500 delegates to stay home as an aid to war-time transportation problems. By doing that they figured they could hold attendance to 5,000. Today it looked as though at least 10,000 would show up.

The housing problem was merely one of the problems of running a small convention which contrasted sharply with the old days when 100,000 thought nothing of dropping in.

National Commander Lynn U. Stambaugh, Fargo, N. D., attorney, said there probably would be more work done and less fanfare this year then any in the past.

Tanker Losses Cut Canadian Gasoline; Rationing To Start

Ottawa, Sept. 17 (AP)—Canadian dian munitions Minister C. D. Howe told the nation tonight that tanker losses are "colossal," and that a new gasoline rationing plan reducing non-essential motoring by almost half, would become effective October 1.

In a nation-wide broadcast Howe also warned that anyone depending on fuel oil for heating this winter "will do so at his own risk."

Because of the "impact on Canada of submarine warfare" and other factors Canada's gasoline reserves, he said, were about 20,000,000 gallons less than a year ago, and stocks of crude oil and unfinished products are about 40,000,000 gallons less.

Oconto, Wis., Navy Man Prisoner Of Japs In Philippines

Washington, Sept. 17. (AP)—Captain Kenneth Mortimer Hoeffel, who commanded the American naval forces which fought at Bataan and Corregidor, was reported today by the war department to be a prisoner of the Japanese in the Philippines.

He was the first of thousands believed captured in the Philippines to be definitely identified as a prisoner of war.

Officials said the information as to Captain Hoeffel, a native of Oconto, Wis., came through the International Red Cross at Geneva, but were unable to explain why his name was reported alone.

RELIEF LOAD DROPS

Lansing, Sept. 17, (AP)—Michigan's direct relief case load dropped 569 cases during the past week as the result of continuing demand for farm and industrial workers, the state welfare department reported today.

JUKE BOX GETS OFFICIAL BOOST

Recorded Music Called Necessity for Troops; Petrillo Rapped

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—The once-lowly "juke box" was elevated today to a position of greatness before a solemn congressional committee where it was described as "a vital necessity" in this war.

Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Administration, told a senate interstate commerce subcommittee that to permit the silencing of the musical notes of the coin-operated phonograph would "jeopardize the morale" of troops at home and abroad.

The first witness in support of a resolution by Chairman Clark (D-Idaho) to investigate James C. Petrillo's ban against members of the American Federation of Musicians playing for recordings and transcriptions., Davis asserted recorded music was "a vital necessity for the entertainment of our troops."

Of greater danger, he declared, was the halting of the supply of records for broadcasting by upwards of 150 radio stations which he said needed the records to maintain listening audiences vital to war communications.

"A policy which threatens the continued existence of many of these stations," he declared, might seriously hamper his work of "informing the people about the status and progress of the war effort and the war policies, activities and aims of this government."

Petrillo, president of the Musicians Union, was not present.

Union Dispute May Halt Milk Supply To Detroit Hotels

Detroit, Sept. 17, (AP)—A jurisdictional dispute between AFL teamsters and CIO clerks unions resulted today in an AFL threat to halt all deliveries to Detroit hotels, restaurants and supermarkets, and a counter-threat by the CIO to "cut off all milk deliveries in Michigan."

The AFL threat was contained in a 48-hour ultimatum given to John Anhut, attorney for the Detroit Hotel association, by James Hoffa, teamsters official, who said the action would be taken unless the hotel ceased purchases of milk from CIO-organized creameries.

Anhut said the hotels planned to transfer their milk business "temporarily" to AFL-organized dairies.

Students Get Loans At Michigan State

East Lansing, Sept. 17 (AP)—An allotment of $25,490 for loans to juniors and seniors in engineering, veterinary science and chemistry has been approved by the government for Michigan State college this year, school officials reported today. Loans will be limited to $500 per student and first payment must be made a year after graduation, unless the student goes into the armed services.

AIR STRENGTH IS BIG THREAT IN STALINGRAD

REPULSE OF ENEMY IS CLAIMED AT VOLGA CITY

BY EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Friday, Sept. 18. (AP)—Bayonet - welding Russian troops wiped out hundreds of German shock troops who smashed into Stalingrad's streets yesterday, and the main conflict still rages on the northwestern outskirts of the city where thousands of Nazis have fallen, the Soviets announced early today.

Both Russians and Germans were fighting in cellars and on housetops on the fringes of the city, press dispatches said.

Dead Left Behind

The repulse of the Nazi break into the city itself was related thus by the communique:

"During the night single detachments of Hitlerites were able to penetrate into some of the streets.

"Street fighting resulted which developed into hand-to-hand encounters. Toward the end of the day all detachments which had penetrated our positions were repulsed.

"The Germans left behind hundreds of dead and damaged trucks and tanks."

Infantry Mopped Up

Continuing the story of the epic struggle for Stalingrad, the communique said:

"Within two days one of our units destroyed 54 German tanks, 21 guns, and 12 motor vehicles. They wiped out about 1,500 enemy officers and men.

"On another sector our guardsmen routed a battalion of enemy infantry and destroyed eight tanks, two mortar batteries and 15 motor vehicles."

In the Mozdok area of the mid-Caucasus the Russians said one unit drove the Germans from an inhabited point, destroying eight German tanks and killing about 300 Germans.

Southeast of Novorissisk along the Bliack Sea coasta marine units were said to have repulsed several enemy attacks and mopped up about a battalion of enemy infantry.

Ground Regained

A Russian bomber formation also attacked a German-occupied Black Sea port, presumably Novorossisk, and sank two enemy mine sweepers and three torpedo boats and blew up an ammunition dump, the communique said.

At Voronezh on the upper Don the Russians, taking the offensive, dislodged the Germans from one populated place, wiping out three enemy battalions and capturing a quantity of war equipment, the Soviets said.

Another enemy regiment was wiped out in another undisclosed sector in two days of hard fighting. Prisoners were reported taken, 100 firing positions destroyed, and 15 guns and 41 machine guns captured.

The Russians said they temporarily lost ground on one sector of the front west of Moscow during a German attack yesterday, but restored their positions in violent counter-attacks which destroyed 22 German tanks and killed 1,200

PLAN MEETING OF SPORTSMEN

Annual Gathering Will Be Held Sunday At Ishpeming

Ishpeming.—Ishpeming will be host Sunday, September 20, to the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's association, the annual meeting of which was transferred here from Menominee because Ishpeming's central location will permit a larger number to attend without undue wear on tires and autos.

The fish and game conferences which have been helpful at meetings in recent years will be renewed and will be held in the morning in the Mather Inn. The luncheon and program will be held in the Georgian room of the inn. The afternoon session will be held at the clubhouse of the Ishpeming Winter Sports club. There will be no evening dinner.

Among those in attendance will be Fred Westerman, fish division, and Harry Ruhl, game division, of the state conservation department.

In a letter to members Peter Trudell, Jr., president, and John J. Hauserman, secretary of the association, say: "Check a Michigan conservation map of 1919, the year the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's association was organized, and compare it with one of today. Note the state of Michigan dedicated and established game areas and the opportunities for public hunting and fishing. Twenty-three years ago the experts said it could not be done. Today the Upper Peninsula of Michigan is the cream of the ranking conservation state in the Union and the cream is yours.

"Conservation in the Upper Peninsula will continue to be just what you make it through organized effort."

Football Notes

Evanston, Ill., Sept. 17 (AP)—With Otto Graham, key figure in the Northwestern attack, showing flashes of last year's form, the Wildcats drove through another stiff scrimmage today.

In addtion to sparking the running and passing attack, Graham has shown steady improvement as a kicker and probably will handle a large share of the punting this fall.

Great Lakes, Ill., Sept. 17 (AP)—Hugh McCullough, former star ball carrier and passer at the University of Oklahoma, today was among the backfield candidates as the Great Lakes Naval Training Station football team went through another hard workout for the opening game against Michigan in Ann Arbor, Sept. 26.

McCullough reported from San Diego, Calif., several days ago.

He played with the Sooners in the Orange Bowl game in Miami, Fla., against Tennessee, Jan. 1, 1939, and spent the last two seasons with the Chicago Cardinals.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 17 (AP)—The punting of Walt Correll, junior right halfback from Lincoln, Ill., featured light drills today as the Illinois football team awaited Saturday's game with the freshmen.

Correll consistently sent boots 60 and 70 yards downfield.

The Illini spent a full hour in skull session with the staff, and then another hour on the field, punting, place-kicking, and rehearsing signals.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 17 (AP)—Coach Frank Lehay today cancelled Saturday's Notre Dame varsity-freshman game because of a toll of injuries.

"Not only would we run the risk of further injury," Lehay said, "but the public might feel cheated if we played with so many key men on the bench."

Six regulars and two alternates were unable to scrimmage today.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 17 (AP)—Purdue Boilermakers concentrated on forward pass defense today preparatory to stopping the accurate aerial attack of Steve Fillipowicz, stock Fordham fullback.

Passes of the Rams' star are expected to pose the chief problem for Coach Elmer Burnham's team in the Sept. 26 intersectional opener against the 1942 Sugar Bowl champions.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 17 (AP)—Point-blocking and protecting punt receivers was emphasized in today's football drill at Indiana University.

Bill Hillenbrand and Bob Cowan did the kicking for the first team, with Jimmy Dewar serving in a similar capacity for the second stringers.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 17 (AP)—The Navy's Seahawks romped through their final heavy workout today for Saturday's opening engagement against Kansas University at Lawrence.

Lieut. Colonel Bernie Bierman didn't alter the routine any, giving the cadets and officers a strong dose of dummy scrimmages, pass defense and signal drill.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 17 (AP)—Iowa's Hawkeyes ran through a light and spirited drill today, easing off for the first test of the season with Washington University of St. Louis here Saturday.

Bob Lauterbach spent the entire practice at the varsity center post, indicating he may be the starter at that spot—only controversial position on the starting eleven.

Murphy Gives Up Army Job, Returns To Bench

BY JAMES W. DOUTHAT

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—Lieutenant Colonel Frank Murphy said today the United tSates was training "the mightiest army of them all" which would "deliver the goods when the hour comes," and he called upon the civilian population to mobilize effectively behind the war effort.

Tanned and in excellent condition after three months of army training, Murphy said in an interview that he would go immediately to Harbor Beach, Mich., for intensive work on his duties as a supremt court justice before the tribunal reconvenes October 5.

Asked whether he would remain on the bench for the entire eight-month term or re-enter the army, the soldier-jurist replied that with world conditions as they were no one could predict the future with any degree of accuracy.

"All I know is that I am prepared," he said, adding "I will be on the bench October 5."

An informed source has said Murphy tried to resign from the court last spring to enter the army for the duration but that government officials thought he should remain on the court.

Commenting vigoriously on what he though should be done to mobilize the public, Murphy proposed three things:

No profit in war.

No slump in production.

Take the "spoils" system out of governmental affairs.

"The country is not mobilized yet," he said. "Common sense should bring it about. Common sense should wake up the people to the fact that we are between two powerful enemy nations and every effort is required. But something more horrible may be necessary before many civilians wake up—perhaps a long line of caskets."

Speaking on proposals for a second front, Murphy asserted:

"The second front must be where the president and his military experts decide it should be. And then the country must back the president. There can be but one policy. We must back those in authority."

Glowing praise was given the nation's mechanized army as seen by Murphy at Fort Benning, Ga., Fort Knox, Ky., and in maneuvers in North Carolina, and the California desert.

"There is a great spirit among these incomparable youths," he said. "And the people who say our army is not thoroughly trained simply do not know the facts."

With a mechanized army, he explained, a corporal now had to know far more than higher ranking officers in previous wars.

"And our army is the cleanest morally of any on earth," he concluded.

Murphy visited the war department today for a conference with General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, and to give up his commission as lieutenant colonel.

Vandenberg Fights To Retain Payroll Tax At 2 Percent

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—Objecting to the use of social security funds to help pay for the war, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) introduced a resolution in the senate today to keep the payroll tax at two per cent, divided equally between employer and employee.

The tax will be doubled automatically next January 1, unless Vandenberg's amendment to the 1939 law is adopted, and he said the treasury intended to ask a further increase to five per cent each on employer and employee.

For the fiscal year ending last June, Vandenberg said, receipts from the tax amounted to $972,000,000, while payments were only $141,000,000, so that an increased tax "obviously is not necessary to meet current old age obligations." He estimated the reserve of $3,227,000,000 at six times the total anticipated benefit payments during the next five fiscal years, or thirty times the maximum recommended by Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau in 1939.

The reasons for the proposed increase, the senator said, "have nothing to do with social security or old age payments," but with "a further so-called attack upon inflation and with the creation of new reservoirs of general bond sales credits."

"I completely acknowledge the need for mobilizing every possible resource against inflation," Vandenberg said, "and certainly I completely acknowledge the unavoidable necessity for some form of enforced savings to sustain the public credit in the face of our unavoibadle tremendous war exependitures.

"But I am unalterably opposed to raiding social security trust funds for these purposes, or for any purpose not directly related to the social security benefits which these payroll taxpayers are presumed to buy for themselves with their assessments.

"The problem of financing the war is a separate problem and it must be candidly and courageously faced as a separate problem. If we must have enforced savings or induced war bond purchases, the order should be universal and not applied solely to the employers and the workers of the country who alone pay these social security taxes."

Saginaw Farmhand Accused Of Hanging Girl 3 Years Ago

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 17 (AP)—Assistant Prosecutor Rolland N. Montgomery said today he would seek a murder warrant charging Fred Littlejohn, a 33-year-old farm hand, with the death of Margaret Doreen Pittman, 13, hanged to a tree on her parents' farm near Foster three years ago.

Sheriff Hugo A. Muehlenbeck said Littlejohn confessed the killing, previously listed as a suicide, when he was arrested for window-peeping six weeks ago. Authorities have since been checking his story.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hillman Pittman, who now live at nearby Shields.

Labor Board Orders Raise In GM Plants

BY JOSEPH A. LOFTUS

Washington, Sept. 17, (AP)—The war labor board tonight ordered an increase of four cents an hour for 225,000 General Motors employes as a means of adjusting wages to higher living costs. The vote was 6 to 3, with labor members of the board dissenting.

The board's action, which affects 95 plants, rejected the calculations and recommendations of a panel which heard the case. The panel recommended a raise of 5 cents. It said that under the board's wage stabilization formula (which permits a rise of up to 15 per cent over the levels of Jan. 1, 1941 to meet higher living costs) an increase of 1½ cents was permissable. In addition it recommended a 3½ cents raise to narrow a differential which, it said, existed between General Motors and Ford plants.

Original Demand 12½

The board announced that it refused to allow any raise for purposes of narrowing the differential, but did not immediately explain how it determined 4 cents as the cost of living adjustment, instead of the panel's calculations of 1½ cents. It said it rejected the unions' request to calculate the increased cost of living on the basis of the national average. The unions contended the increase in General Motors cities was 17 per cent instead of 15. The original demand was an increase of 12½ cents an hour.

The panel had reported to the board that, after allowance for overtime payments, average hourly earnings of General Motors workers at straight time had advanced from 94.1 cents to $1.065, or an increase of 13.4 per cent from January, 1941, to May, 1942. It therefore recommended 1½ cents to bring the total up to 15 per cent.

The board said its formal opinions in the case would be issued "shortly," and also announced it would decide the Chrysler Motor company case next week.

The board also rejected, by a vote of 5-4, the recommendation of the majority of the panel that the night shift bonus be increased from 5 per cent to 10 per cent. An agreement between the parties to make all increases retroactive to April 28, when the previous contracts expired, was approved.

Standard maintenance of membership clauses were ordered written into the agreements. These permit any union member 15 days to withdraw from the union if they do not wish to be bound, under penalty of dismissal, to remain members for the duration of the contract. The board voted down the demand of the union, the panel majority, and its own labor members, in refusing to make the maintenance of membership clause effective as of last January 1. (Under such a proposal men who were in the union Jan. 1, would have to remain members.)

The order also unanimously directed that men and women employes should be paid in accordance with the principle of equal pay for equal work and directed the parties to negotiate a contract provision to put this principle into effect.

MARVIN STAHL BEATS SELLERS

Lansing Pro Cops State Golf Title, 1 Up, On 37th Green

Detroit, Sept. 17. (AP) — Cool headed Marvin Stahl of Lansing staged a breathless finish today in the 21st Michigan Professional Golfers association championship and defeated Gib Sellers of Detroit, 1 up in 37 holes, for the title that so long had eluded him.

One down coming to the 36th tee after trailing most of the afternoon, the 32-year-old Stahl, who broke into the game at Grand Rapids, blasted two tremendous wood shots and sank a short putt for a birdie to square the match.

Then on the first extra hole Stahl got down a 12-foot putt for another birdie to prevail in the hardest fought final in many years. Stahl succeeds Al Watrous of Detroit, who bowed to Sellers in the third round, as king of the state's pros.

It was the first outstate victory in the P. G. A. event since Frank Sprogel of Grand Rapids won in 1925 when the title was determined by medal play. The victory brought Stahl the $205 first money of $1,000 in prizes.

Bitter Defeat

For Sellers, who lost his Michigan open title two weeks ago to Chick Harbert, it was a bitter defeat. One down at the turn in the morning round, Sellers finally seized the lead on the 16th and went to lunch one up.

While Stahl kept applying pressure, Sellers held doggedly to the lead. On the 34th Stahl knocked in a 35-foot putt to square the match, but Sellers came right back and rolled in an explosion shot from a trap to go one hole ahead again.

But Stahl took this occasion to fire two successive birdies to take the title.

Stahl, who had been shut out of important championships since winning the American open crowns in 1936, 1938 and 1939, qualified in the meet at Clinton Valley Country club with a two-over par 74, and then scored match play victories over Ernie Shave, Detroit; Lee Kosten, Muskegon; Tommy Shannon, Detroit, and Jack Winney, Detroit, prior to today's triumph.

AIR STRENGTH IS BIG THREAT IN STALINGRAD

Germans.

Plane Superiority Tells

The Red army and Stalingrad's citizen-soldiers were fighting now for the very existence of the city. They reported they were facing "several tens of divisions," ever reinforced.

Soviet infantry, artillery and tanks were putting up a magnificent struggle against these ground forces, but it was the terrifying German air superiority which took the Nazis into the city's residential sections.

Again it has been demonstrated how a city can be penetrated if the invading forces have their way in the air.

Dispatches left no doubt that the luftwaffe "in tremendous force" was continuously raining bombs on the weary fighters who have been holding out against direct attack for 24 days.

The army organ Red Star said the fate of the city lay in the hands of the outnumbered Soviet fighter pilots, rushed to Stalingrad in the last few days. The newspapers' correspondent related graphically how the sky over the city was alive with both dive-bombers and altitude bombers.

State General Fund 7 Million In Black

Lansing, Sept. 17 (AP)—The state's general fund started the fiscal year July 1 with a surplus of nearly $7,000,000, Auditor General Vernor J. Brown reported today, but he was quick to warn away the treasury grabbers.

The report fixed the surplus at $6,952,528, almost $2,000,000 above previous estimates. It included $3,271,407 savings in appropriations.

Brown pointed out that state revenues have exceeded authorized expenditures at the rate of $1,000,000 a month for 36 months, enabling the state to retire ite one-time deficit of $30,000,000.

The auditor general warned a reversal of the "upward trend of state revenues" is expected.

"We are trying as hard as possible to avoid any lowering of farm prices and wages," he said.

Tire Thief Breaks Out Of Hart Jail

Hart, Mich., Sept. 17 (AP)—Richard F. Koyloski, 18, of near Hart, escaped this afternoon from the Oceana county jail, where he was being held for trial on charges of stealing automobile tires.

His escape was discovered when Sheriff Frank Burmeister went to a home where Koyloski had stayed before his arrest, and found that the fugitive had been seen on the premises shortly beforehand.

Officers believed Koyloski was heading toward Muskegon, and a road blockade was set up in the area.

Each family in the United States should average a saving of 17 pounds of waste kitchen greases this year—enough to make a pound and a half of glycerine. Each family thus can contribute enough glycerine to make four pounds of nitroglycerine, which in turn will make 10 pounds of dynamite.

ALLIES PUMP GUNFIRE INTO BASE AT BUNA

of supplies. The enemy has to haul his supplies by sea from upper New Guinea and New Britain down to Buna, then send them by native carriers across the Owen Stanley mountains.

Of the raid the communique said:

"A strong force of Allied fighters made a strafing sweep over the area. Enemy landing barges, stores, and dumps in the vicinity of the beach were attacked with 35,000 rounds of cannon and machinegun fire.

"As a result at least 15 barges were destroyed or damaged, and fuel and store dumps were left in flames visible for 25 miles."

There still was scant mention of Japanese aerial activity. The communique said "a single enemy plane carried out an ineffective hit and run raid under cover of darkness" on Port Moresby.

"There was little damage," it added.

Invaders Checked

Under their new air commander, Maj. Gen. George C. Kennedy, Allied airmen were trying to carry out his dictum of "burn up those Jap planes on the ground as fast as he can put them there."

Of the ground situation at Ioribaiwa the guarded assumption here was that the Japanese had been checked temporarily. The communique said merely that "sporadic fighting is continuing in the vicinity of Ioribaiwa."

But unless Allied airmen can effectively cripple the Japanese eastern coastal base of Buna the Japanese still will remain a constant menace with their creeping infiltration methods.

Ioribaiwa is some eight miles south of Efogi where the Japanese were held for a week. The new thrust places the enemy only 12 miles from Itikinuma, a rubber plantation whence a hard-surface road winds down 20 miles to Port Moresby on the southern coast.

Political Activity Of State Employes Seems To Be Curbed

Lansing, Sept. 17, (AP)—Thomas J. Wilson, state civil service director, was almost ready to believe today that the merit system had eliminated political activity among state employes.

Wilson expressed himself as "astounded" that the primary election did not bring a single charge that some among the 18,000 state employes had violated the civil service no-politics rule.

Prior to the primary, seven employes either resigned or took leaves of absence to avoid violating the rule.

Industrial Mishaps Decrease In August

Lansing, Sept. 17. (AP)—Compensable accidents in Michigan industrial plants fell 4.7 per cent in August from the 10-month peak recorded in July, the state department of labor and industry reported today.

In the August total of 2,661 accidents were 150 permanent disabilities and 20 fatalities, compared with 171 and 30, respectively, in July.

DOES NEEDLEWORK AT 90

Iron River—Mrs. Louise Baumgartner, a resident of Stambaugh township for almost 60 years, Sunday celebrated her 90th birthday. With her on the occasion, as was her wish, were 57 relatives and close friends. The aged woman, whose brisk manner and ready wit belie her 90 years, is completing her work—which consists of fashioning fine lace—in preparation to start knitting for the Red Cross. She does this work without spectacles. Mrs. Baumgartner is the mother of nine children, seven of whom, with members of their own families were at the party.

LOGGERS IN CONFERENCE

Iron River— Any reduction in the price ceiling of pulpwood "will put us out of business," says Joe Carlson and Harold Lindahl, among the largest producers in the Iron River district. Carlson and Lindahl were in Duluth Monday at a conference of pulpwood dealers from Minnesota, Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. The meeting was arranged by Donald M. Nelson, war production chairman. Federal authorities have indicated, Carlson said, that the ceiling on pulpwood would be lowered, and loggers of the northwest will submit figures showing that, if this is done, many will be forced out of business. At 7:30 tonight in the Iron River city hall, loggers of the district will meet with the county rationing board and Allan Gallup, deputy administrator, to discuss the tire problem. Most of the loggers, Carlson said, will be unable to operate during the winter unless they get tires.

POTATO SHOW OCT. 16

Menominee—The Menominee County Potato Show is scheduled for October 16 at Stephenson.

The permium list this year will be the same as last year with a growers' contest, bushel samples and certified seed samples. Any farmer planning on entering potatoes in the potato show this fall should notify the county agricultural agent at once. This is necessary because yields in the growers' contest must be checked. Anyone entering bushel samples should also notify County Agricultural Agent Gail Bowers in order to determine the amount of space necessary for the show.

MRS. PUTZ NOMINATED

Iron River — In the quietest primary in years F. Lloyd Symmonds, incumbent, was renominated for prosecuting attorney and Mrs. Oliver W. Putz, widow of the late clerk, was nominated for county clerk on the Republican ticket in a four-way contest.

With the small Camp 5 precinct missing, Symmonds defeated Fred F. Murphy, Iron River, 1,337 to 848. Mrs. Putz polled 1,026 ballots in the four-way race in which her opponents received the following vote: Richard Erickson, 735; John H. Meyer, 479, and John M. Eusebio, 217.

In the contest for nomination for county clerk on the Democratic ticket, the only contest for that ticket, Joshua Hoikka, nominee in 1940, defeated Lloyd "Mickey" McKay, 599 to 216.

CLOON LEADS ANDERSON

Marquette—Joseph P. Cloon, Republican candidate for the nomination for state senator from the Thirty-first district, defeated his opponent, Evert Anderson, Negaunee, by a small margin in Tuesday's primary, nearly complete returns from the four counties in the district show.

Because of an error in the reporting of returns from Gogebic county late Tuesday night, it was stated in the Mining Journal yesterday that Anderson had a lead of 600 votes, but when correct returns were received from Gogebic yesterday the figures were changed to give Cloon the best of the contest.

Return to "Normalcy" Means War, English Woman Editor Declares

By ROSELLEN CALLAHAN
NEA Special Correspondent

New York — If you're hoping for the world's return to "normalcy," get ready for World War III.

That is the warning of Barbara Ward, young foreign editor of the English newspaper The Economist, who is visiting America for the first time.

Here for a three months' study of after-war trade policies, the pretty 28-year-old editor slid back into the corner of a couch in her hotel room, hugged her crossed legs, and explained what she meant in softly clipped phrases.

"What is normalcy — but the very conditions which brought about the world struggle today? Such normal conditions as lack of community spirit, instability in the home, personal and social barriers, waiting for the other fellow to do what was necessary for the good of all, and monopolies of vital human necessities."

TRIP WON HER NEWSPAPER JOB

Not looking in the least like the usual conception of an economic expert, this slim outdoor type of girl, with the much-publicized English complexion, admitted that she became a foreign editor quite by chance.

"I had planned to be an opera singer," she laughed apologetically, "but when I visited my brother in Turkey The Economist asked me to send in a few articles on the political and economic situation there, and after returning to London they added me to the staff.

"Being a foreign editor is not so unusual today," she explained. "Women are carrying on in many of the jobs which men have left to go into the service. Much of the administration work in the Army is done by women. They are working as foremen in factories, as office managers, anti-aircraft gunners, and in aviation.

A new friendship has grown out of these warm times, Miss Ward observed. Many personal and social barriers have been broken down all along the line.

"People who never met before are now pooling their efforts to do a common job," and there was a note of confidence in her voice as she added, "This is the beginning of an important new feeling—a feeling that we all have a stake in our community."

And then with a frown she said, "Yet unless we remain united after the war, we are lost. United, that is, in defeating the evils —unemployment, malnutrition, economic dislocation—which created Hitler."

Many have shared this same high ideal, but Miss Ward has a down-to-earth solution of its problems.

MISS WARD OFFERS PEACETIME SOLUTION

"A fact - finding commission should be set up now to determine what it will take to meet basic human needs later — and then meet them. If, for instance, we were to apply the principles of the newly set-up wheat council to all important commodities—such as foodstuffs, fuel and housing — distributing them first to people who need them most and car use them for the best purposes, rather than to the market which will pay the highest price, then this war is not being fought in vain.

"It is this—or World War III."

The buzzer sounded, and a waiter came in with pots of tea and biscuits. Yes, it was five o'clock, and the conversation took a lighter turn.

PILOTS CAN GET ENSIGN RATING

Men With 50 Hours Solo Time Are Offered Commissions

Under a new plan to enlist men with flying experience as instructors in the Navy Air Force, all accepted fliers with 50 certified solo hours now will be assigned immediately to active duty and receive an ensign's base pay of $150 per month, plus subsistence, board and equipment expense, while taking a required Civilian Pilot Training course, it has been announced by the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board in Chicago.

Ensign George R. Hahn will be at the Navy Recruiting station at the post office building, Escanaba, Wednesday, Sept. 23, from one to four p. m. to interview men with the required qualifications.

According to Lieut. (jg) Lyman Templin, director of this program at the board, men previously accepted for this class were not paid while in training, but only received subsistence and equipment expense. The new arrangement is expected to solve the financial problems of many fliers, and induce them to assist the Navy Air Force in its vital training program.

Qualifications, besides the 50 hours of solo, for men who want commissions in this class are: 19 to 33 years of age, high school graduate and ten years citizenship. Before receiving a commission and starting the CPT course, applicants must pass a flight check by a CPT operator and a Navy physical examination that compares approximately with a C.A.A. commercial physical. Only men who are not eligible for the Navy's V-5 class, or flight training, may apply for this instructor commission.

The CPT course runs eight weeks, and consists of advanced ground school and flying in aircraft rated over 100 horsepower. Most of those successfully completing the course will be sent to Pensacola, Fla., for three months of advanced Navy training, followed by assignment as primary flight instructors at a Naval reserve aviation base. A few officers may be selected for further CPT training in link instruments and flight officer courses with appropriate assignments in Naval service upon completion.

Before the start of training at Pensacola, the officer will receive a permanent rank, which in some cases will be higher than the ensign rank held during the CPT course. Flight pay, which amounts to 50 per cent of base pay, will be added to the officers' salary upon entering the Navy's advanced course.

Escanaba Man Guarding Elliott Roosevelt Home

George Labre, former Escanaba high school basketball player, now with the U. S. Secret Service, has the pleasant assignment of guarding three of the grandchildren of President Roosevelt. He now is on vacation and is visiting here at the home of his sister, Mrs. Edward Moersch, 1114 Second avenue south.

Labre is one of eight Secret Service men assigned to the task of guarding the Elliott Roosevelt family at Fort Worth, Texas. Elliott, son of the president, is now on duty with the U. S. Air Force, but Mrs. Roosevelt and three children, Chandler, Elliott, Jr., and David, the latter only nine months are remaining at Fort Worth.

Labre travels with the Roosevelt family wherever they go, and during the past summer was with the family at Colorado Springs. He has been assigned to the Elliott Roosevelt detail since last December.

The two older children, Chandler, nine year old girl, and Elliott, Jr., six, are now attending public school classes in Fort Worth and Labre escorts the children to and from school daily. He also remains at school during the hours in which the children are attending classes.

Labre entered the Secret Service following his graduation from Michigan State college in 1941. He was assigned to Washington for several months and accompanied the president last year to Hyde Park, the summer capital in New York.

The Roosevelt children are well behaved and very affable, Labre declared, and the job of guarding them is a pleasant one. The Roosevelts live on a large ranch near Fort Worth.

Labre will leave Escanaba Sunday to return to Fort Worth.

Vandenberg Speaks Out

LEADING members of congress and particularly Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, do not intend to take lying down President Roosevelt's recent charge that the legislative branch of our government is solely to blame for lack of legislation to prevent inflation and for the inexplicable confusion that continues to exist in Washington in the prosecution of our national war effort.

In an address delivered in the senate on Sept. 7, the senior senator from Michigan laid at the threshold of the president the sole blame for failure to control wages of labor and farm prices, to prevent inflation. He laid at the doors of the treasury department the blame for the failure of congress to enact necessary financial legislation, insisting that treasury experts have utterly failed to agree upon a definite tax plan and was equally insistent that the senate finance committee cannot and must not act without definite treasury recommendations.

Senator Vandenberg, in plain words, laid the blame for the bungling of our national war effort upon the administrative branch of our government, which he pointed out, has been accorded every power that was asked and every dollar in funds it requested and, plainly, must now accept the responsibility for failures that develop.

Senator Vandenberg said in part:

Mr. President, if we can have the all-out effort which the President summarizes in this message, I am sure he can have a hundred percent congressional cooperation. He can certainly have mine. I agree completely with him that the time has come to move, but the responsibility cannot be adroitly transferred exclusively to these Halls, Mr. President, because the primary responsibility rests precisely where all these enormous war powers have been awarded. The primary responsibility rests with the executive branch of the Government, which must be the branch to conduct the war, and which must have the power, and which then must take the responsibility.

Mr. President, if I speak critically it is because I want to be totally dedicated to the winning of this war with least dalay and least loss and because I believe the war effort is too often bungled on the home front. Let Congress take its share of the blame—and, so far as I am concerned, its failure to write a total, all-out price-control bill last spring is censurable. I said then, and I have repeated it countless times, until wages are geared to prices there can be no such thing as reliable anti-inflationary defense; and until farm prices are stabilized at parity, in the same total comprehension of the problem, we flirt with economic disaster. But the more critical, the more sinister, failures in the war effort are not in Congress. Congress has given the Chief Executive every war power he has ever asked—and every war dollar he has ever sought. Directing a war effort and fighting a war are unavoidably executive functions. There is where we have placed the authority. There is where the responsibility unescapably resides. The prime bunglers are administrative. The need for unified war command cannot be answered here. It must be answered down on Pennsylvania Avenue. The need for effectively reorganized services of supply cannot be answered here. It must be answered down the street. The need for an end to bureaucratic confusion cannot be answered here. It must be answered by those who asked and got the war powers we gave them. The need for more truth and less propaganda cannot be answered here. The answer lies elsewhere. There is less need for more and ever greater Executive powers. The need is for a more efficient use of powers already in existence. Both Congress and the executive branch of the Government must be held to strict accountability in his tremendous efergency. I ask no immunities for Congress. But I intend to grant none to others.

Rough on Rubber

ALTHOUGH the machinery for the conservation of rubber has not been put into operation, it is generally accepted that the proper thing to do is for the public to immediately carry out the recommendations made by President Roosevelt insofar as is possible.

The Greyhound Bus company has already revised its schedules to comply with the recommended 40-mile speed limit. An Escanaba citizen, who recently returned from a trip into Lower Michigan, said he observed that the general motoring public was traveling at reduced speeds.

This same citizen said there was a notable exception. He said that the only automobiles that were exceeding the 40-mile speed limit were state-owned motor vehicles. Now, why should state govment employes "burn up" rubber needlessly, when in fact they should be setting an example of good behavior for private citizens?

Whoever has charge of state-owned automobiles in Michigan should read President Roosevelt's recent speech on the rubber crisis in America.

Get That Scrap Today!

TODAY is the last day for gathering that scrap metal before the trucks start making their rounds Saturday morning to collect the salvage material.

Every Escanaba citizen is asked to scour through his home and garage to locate scrap metal that is greatly needed for the nation's war production program. Here is a chance for the individual on the home front to give real help to those men who are fighting on the battlefields of land and sea.

For the first time in the history of America, our steel industry is facing the threat of a serious shortage of a major raw material—iron and steel scrap. In every way it is being brought home to us that the shortage can only be solved by the continuous collection of the dormant and useless junk now lying idle in the homes, farms and industrial plants of the country. Unless we do that job thoroughly and conscientiously our steel mills will not be able to operate to capacity. And that means our war factories will be hampered in turning out the vast amounts of urgently needed planes and guns and ships.

But Uncle Sam isn't the only one who is feeling a scrap shortage. Recently the Office of War Information announced that Hitler is having trouble keeping the Axis furnaces fed with scrap. But there is a difference between his way and the American way of collecting it. Hitler put scrap collection under Heinrich Himmler, Chief of the Gestapo. And that can only mean that the German salvage drive will follow the now familiar Gestapo pattern of coercion, intimidation and force. That's one way of getting in the scrap. But that's not our way. In this country the War Production Board has organized and is directing the nation-wide search for scrap and other waste materials on a voluntary basis. Our scrap collection effort offers the opportunity to show Hitler that free men can do the job—voluntarily and without compulsion. Will our way work? The answer depends on you and me and 130,000,000 Americans!

Anxious Relatives

THE parents, wives, brothers and sisters of Americans who were in the Philippines have been besieging every possible source for information whether they still are alive and, if so, where they are and what is their condition.

To these questions there is no answer, because the Japanese have not provided those lists of prisoners-of-war which humane people compile and transmit, through the Red Cross, as speedily and accurately as war conditions will permit.

This negligence or deliberate restraint emphasizes one difference between Japanse and Occidentals. We wage war to accomplish a purpose, good or bad, and regret the human suffering that becomes inevitable, and try to limit that suffering as much as possible. The Japanese wage a war of extermination. To them human suffering is not worthy of consideration, unless from it they obtain sadistic pleasure.

AGAIN THE 'BIG STICK'

(Sheboygan, Wis., Press.)

Again we hear the same old cry from the senators and representatives in Congress who were against war preparedness, declaring that President Roosevelt is using the big stick.

The same declaration was made against "Teddy" Roosevelt many years ago when he was President, and yet history vindicates Teddy, the same as it will Franklin D.

When we have a Congress, a portion of which is made up of isolationists and Roosevelt haters, un-American in their attitude, it becomes necessary to use a big stick.

Congress has been dilly-dallying for months on taxation and legislation to stop inflation, and yet nothing has been done. The President is responsible to the people to win this war if it is humanly possible, and to break down the morale at home by inflationary prices would be equally disastrous and might invite defeat.

All public-spirited and American-minded citizens will stand back of the President in his efforts to avoid inflation.

Instead of trying to keep up with the family next door these days, we try to keep down with them.

A financial failure doesn't hurt so much after you become accustomed to your new friends.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

Broadcasting the news unquestionably is the most difficult assignment in the history of radio. Outlandish and unpronounceable place-names avalanche daily upon the unfortunate newscaster in a never-ending and bewildering stream. Many of the names cannot be found in reference books. Often the newscaster must go on the air and read war bulletins that have been teletyped within the last minute or two, leaving no time for the consulting of dictionaries.

And, of course, no man lives, or broadcasts, who is at home in all the languages and dialects of this multi-lingual War of Liberation.

Chinese place-names perhaps are the most baffling of all, due to the fact that the existing method of transcribing Chinese sounds into English phonetics is highly inaccurate, as these examples clearly show:

MANCHUKUO, a Manchurian puppet state set up by Japan. The popular English pronunciation is "man-CHOO-koe," but the authorities list as first choice: mahn-joe-kwoe, and as second choice: mahn-choo-kwoe.

CHEKIANG, an eastern province of China. The gazetteers show the vowel sound of the first syllable as "u" as in urn, burn, thus: first choice: ju-jyahng; second choice: Chu-kyahng.

WENCHOW, important port of Chekiang province. Say: wun-joe

KIANGSI, a province of Central China. Note that the "k" has the sound of "j." Say: jyahng-see.

SHANTUNG, a province of eastern China. The second syllable begins with the sound of "d" and has the vowel sound of "oo" as in foot, book: shahn-doong.

Washington, D. C.—The Russian fleet is expected to perform some spectacular action in the near future as Axis forces advance along the shores of the Black Sea south of Novorossisk.

Since the loss of Sevastopol, Russia's main naval base in the Black Sea, Soviet ships have used the port of Novorossisk, where they had repair facilities. The only harbor now available is Batum, which offers no repair or reconditioning facilities.

The Red Fleet, which has suffered relatively small losses so far, is in fact without a home and has two courses open to it: to attempt a suicide action against the Nazis when they reach the open regions around Batum, or to attempt to get through the Bosphorus and be interned by the Turks in Istanbul.

Internment was the fate of the fleet which supported the White general, Wrangel, in his fight against the Reds in 1921. It is doubtful whether the Red Fleet will follow the example of the former Czarist fleet. Hence, the opinion in naval quarters is that it will attempt to inflict as much damage as it can in defending Batum and Poti, the outlet for the important manganese mines situated in the Caucasus.

—WANT MANGANESE ORE—

While the Nazis are fighting a spectacular battle at the threshold of Stalingrad, another imposing force composed of Germans and Rumanians is pushing steadily toward the south, aiming at the capture of Potia and Batum, the terminus of an important pipe line from Baku.

The Germans, who are relying now for the most part on the Swedish manganese mines, expect to get the Russian pits this fall. This will materially help German arms production. These mines are so important, because of the quality of the ore, that the Harriman interests attempted in 1920 to obtain a long-term concession for their exploitation from the short-lived Georgian government. The absorption of the Georgian republic by the USSR prevented the deal from materializing.

The steady progress of Nazi-Rumanian forces in that area worries observers in Washington and London, who realize that Nazi industrial potentials will be greatly enhanced if, besides controlling the pipelines from the Caucasus to the rest of Russia, the Nazis gain possession of these rich manganese sources.

The Soviet forces retreating in the Caucasus have not done as good a "scorched earth" job as on other fronts. For instance, the Russians are believed to have destroyed the oil refineries in the Maikop region, but they did not have sufficient time to destroy the wells themselves. It is more than likely that the Russians have made the necessary preparations to destroy the installations in the manganese mines, but, according to experts, it will take only a few months to put them back in working condition.

—WINTER BEGINS IN NOVEMBER—

If the Nazis advance to Batum — and the probability is a very real one — the Russian fleet will have to disappear from the Black Sea. German transports and tramp steamers, which are available in Rumanian and Bulgarian ports, can then be loaded with the precious ore for transportation to the mouth of the Danube, and thence in river boats and barges to Germany for use in Austrian and German plants.

The Russian army of the Caucasus is expected to put up a stiff defense, but the Germans are attacking in so many places that, the Soviet high command does not have sufficient forces to defend the mountain ranges and the road along the sea shore at the same time.

The Soviet high command hoped that the demonstrations before Leningrad and Moscow would divert some of the reserves which the Nazis are pouring into the southern battlefield. These hopes of the Russian general staff have not materialized, since the best available Nazi forces hold strong defensive positions in those areas, composed mostly of Germany's allies, are being sacrificed recklessly before Stalingrad, in the Caucasian mountains, and on the shores of the Black Sea.

Whether the much-discussed "Hitler timetable" has been disrupted or not is difficult to say. But what appears obvious is that the Nazis will do their utmost to hold Stalingrad and the Black Sea shores until winter sets in. Winter does not start in that region before mid-November.

An Ohio man who smashed a juke box was claimed insane. A lot of folks have been on the verge of insanity.

Most folks who make the best of what they have, have very little.

Hollywood Column

Hollywood—Half-minute interviews: Director Harold Schuster—"An actress is a girl who can walk to the side of a movie set, peer into the depths of a gloomy sound stage full of dusty props, old scenery and dangling ropes and cables, and exclaim as if she meant it: 'What an enchanting view there is from this window'!"

Director Edmund Goulding: "An actress, especially a young one, does her best work in movie love scenes when she is not in love. It's the imagined romance and her yearning to be in love that inspires her best acting."

Marion Martin: "When an actress speaks contemptuously of makeup as 'pumpkin juice' and stays out of it as much as possible, she's a professional. If she loves the stuff but takes it off before she leaves the lot, she's a semi-pro. If she leaves it on her face at the end of the day so that she can attract attention on the way home—pretending, of course, that she didn't have time to wash her face—she's an amateur."

John Payne—"The movies must have helped teach young men to forget everything they've ever read or heard about how to make love to a girl. All that's needed is for a guy to be himself, act naturally, and kiss her soundly when the opportunity offers."

"KISSINK" VALUES

Producer Boris Morros—"You kent geev to da poblic too moch first-class kissink and loff scenes. Like oxpensive sets and costumes, kissink in movies is what we call 'production value'."

Author James Hilton—"I guess it serves me right for thinking it up, but I'll never get away from the Shangri-la legend. If there really were such a place, I'd go there myself. I'm tired of Hollywood."

Author Ben Hecht: "In order for me to write, I must have at least four impatient creditors in my life. That's why I couldn't take Hollywood as a permanent thing. I'd probably start making and saving a lot of money."

Composer David Franklin—"I've written 3000 songs, probably, but only one in ten has been published. I never touch a piano when I start composing. Matter of fact, I write most of my stuff while walking around in the busiest part of town."

THE OLD MAXIE

Max Baer—"I always was an actor, or was trying to be one. Any time I get floored in a movie, you see me looking right into the camera with my eyes wide open."

Charlie Chaplin—"The easiest and surest way for a comic to steal a scene is just by listening. You stand still and listen very attentively, and soon the audience will be watching you. Lou Costello has this trick."

Joan Bennett — "Mixing marriage and a career really is very simple. For me, anyway. I never talk about domestic matters when I'm at work, and I never talk about pictures when I'm at home."

The difficulty confronting the American people today is the distance we have to travel with our men, our materials and supplies to meet our enemy, plus the great problem of landing on enemy shores from he water in the face of superior land-based air force.—Senator Wayland Brooks, Illinois.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—This harvest season U. S. crops are breaking all records for the third successive year. But despite this, earnest, hardworking Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has issued a private but very potent warning to war chiefs that next year's crops will fall far short of requirements.

The American farmer, Wichard has warned, is expected to feed the world, and he just can't do it without (1) farm labor, and (2) machinery. Furthermore, two other factors are now becoming difficult: Fertilizer, because of the large amount of nitrate going into munitions; and insecticide, much of which used to come from the Dutch East Indies.

Wickard's battle to secure more farm labor is pretty well known. He has been warning Selective Service Director General Hershey that not all farm labor can be drafted, and he has been battling with Manpower Czar Paul McNutt to keep farm labor from going to city industries.

But Wickard's struggle from farm machinery is not known. It has been waged backstage with Donald Nelson and WPB moguls to whom the Secretary of Agriculture has pointed out that farmers have tractors, plows, cultivators, etc., to offset both labor shortages and to increase farm production.

On July 22, Wickard wrote a letter to Nelson suggesting that agricultural machinery to the value of $140,000,000 be manufactured for 1943. This figure represents 38 per cent of the 1940 production. Wickard also recommended a much higher production of repair parts, including plowshares—namely 151 per cent of the 1940 production. This was to permit farmers to repair outworn machinery where new machinery was not available.

This program was okayed by the Food Requirements Committee, on which the War Production Board is represented. But it got no action from the WPB. Instead, another branch of WPB, acting quite independently, drew up a program calling for production of farm machinery up to 27 per cent of the 1940 levels. This was the WPB's Civilian Supplies Branch, and its program in turn was rejected by the Food Requirements Committee.

To make matters still more confused, the War Department at this point entered the picture. It demanded that no critical materials be used for agricultural machinery during the next quarter. This would completely cripple the Wickard program, since the machinery to be used by farmers next spring must be produced in the next three months—in other words, in the next quarter.

So while farmers face a shortage of labor, machinery, fertilizer and insecticides, action in Washington is delayed by conflict and duplication among bureaucracies.

—BIRTH AND PRICE CONTROL—

Congressional leaders showed the President a rough draft of the new wage-price control bill before the legislation was introduced, and he heartily approved it. However, the leaders didn't tell the President about one proposal, relative to price control, which was discussed while the bill was being written in Speaker Sam Rayburn's office.

At this meeting, Rayburn remarked that the problems of cattlemen should be kept in mind in fixing meat prices.

"I have some cattle myself on what I like to call my ranch in Texas," Rayburn said, "and I know from experience what it costs to raise them. It requires 27 months and a lot of hay before a heifer is ready for breeding."

"You forgot to add on the period of gestation, Sam," someone observed. "Maybe we ought to ask the President to do something about this. He could issue an executive order, shortening the length of time required to bring baby cattle into the world."

"Well, the President is a farmer himself and ought to know about such things," grinned Majority Leader Alben Barkley. "However, I doubt that this would come within the scope of his powers as Commander-in-Chief."

—MYSTERIES OF CENSORSHIP—

One inexplicable thing about the otherwise effective Censorship Code is that it bars publication of any suspicion that sabotage was committed aboard a ship or in a factory, also that it bans mention of diplomatic relations.

For instance, it is not permitted to say that Hitler uses a certain French area as a radio link to South America because the State Department forgot to include radio in its diplomatic agreement regarding that area and may have to reopen diplomatic negotiations regarding that radio station.

Also, it is not permitted to say that sabotage was suspected aboard a certain luxury liner which burned at sea, even though very few luxury liners burned at sea in peacetimes, and certainly many more precautions are taken to prevent fire on vitally important ships in wartime.

This censorship is not the fault of Byron Price's efficient bureau, but of the government departments which wrote the code.

The censorship bureau merely enforces the code. So it looks as if the real purposes of hiding these things from the American public was fear by the armed forces that they be considered inefficient in preventing sabotage.

HELP NEEDED ON NEW SHIPS

Drive On In Escanaba for Men With Any Sea Experience

A drive to register all men with sea experience has been launched in Escanaba by the United States Employment Service, according to Whitney L. Dixon, manager of the employment office at 1323 Ludington street.

"Two thousand new ships now scheduled for production will require 100,000 seamen, radio operators, cooks, engineers, and officers to man them," Mr. Dixon stated. "Any man who once has been to sea can do his country no greater service than to ship again. This war will be won by the side that 'gets there fustest with the mostest,' and whether or not that side is our side depends upon the men who sail our ships."

New ships with new comforts, good food, and shore clubs restricted to the merchant marine await the victory fleet sailors, he added. Pay also has been increased greatly. Able-bodied seamen are making $300 a month, radio operators $400, engineers $450, cooks $300, and officers even more. In addition, each man receives a $5,000 life insurance contract and disability and personal-effects insurance protection. Hospital service and dental care also are given without charge.

The latest safety devices and fully-stocked lifeboats are reducing the hazards of sailing in wartime, and practically all ships now are sailing in well-protected convoys, it was pointed out.

The recruitment drive will continue for ten days. Experienced men who register their willingness to take jobs in the merchant marine will be called as they are needed.

Mr. Dixon stressed the urgency of the need for men to sail, and urged all men who have had experience at sea to register at once with the local office of the United States Employment Service.

W. L. Bacon, Retired C&NW Official, Dies

William L. Bacon, senior member of a pioneer Escanaba family, and a retired veteran of the Chicago and North Western railway, died Thursday morning at three o'clock at St. Francis hospital. He had been in failing health for some time and had been a patient at the hospital for two weeks.

Mr. Bacon, who had a record of forty-seven years continuous service for the Chicago and North Western, as well as a record of over fifty years of activity in the Masonic lodge, was born in Milton Junction, Wis., January 2, 1861, and came to Escanaba on March 26, 1880, when he was nineteen years of age.

He entered the service of the Chicago and North Western on April 7, of that year, as a laborer in the roundhouse, and his activities from that time, beginning in the motor power department, were connected with the service departments of the company. He served in other departments of the railway in Escanaba, including operating and engineering and at the time of his retirement, June 1, 1926, he was superintendent of the company's tie and timber plant, under the engineering department.

He also was in charge of the ore dock lighting system from the time it was first installed in 1882, until his retirement.

Mr. Bacon was a Past Master of Delta Lodge, No. 195, F. & A. M., serving at Worshipful Master for three years; was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America, and had just received a life membership in the American Wood Preserves Association.

Service Saturday

He is survived by two daughters and one son: Mrs. Charles G. Thielicke, of Finiston, Australia, who is now at home; Miss Ella Bacon, of Escanaba, and John M. Bacon, of Minneapolis; four grandchildren, Jean and William Thielicke and Helen and John Bacon; and two sisters and two brothers: Mrs. Gertrude Hendricks, Mrs. Mina Fultz and Clarence and Walter Zimmerman, of Chicago.

The body was taken to the Anderson Funeral Home where it is resting in state. Services will be held in the funeral home chapel at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The Blue Lodge will conduct the Masonic service and C. U. Woolpert will have charge of the ritual. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

Lakes and Streams Are Made Accessible to Public

Major improvements providing access and accommodations for fishermen have been completed at five public fishing sites and minor improvements have been made at 20 others this summer in spite of avoidance of the use of any critical materials, Floyd Fanselow, engineer of the conservation department's fish division, said in Lansing.

Most recent job completed is that at the mouth of Ford river, nine miles south of Escanaba, where an entrance road and parking area for 550 cars was made an access trail was cut along the river bank, a four-foot walkway for smelt dippers was graded and sodded and a timber boat ramp was installed.

On McCormack lake in Montmorency county, one of the state's "made" trout lakes, an entrance road now permits easy access and fill along the shore facilitates boat launching. The entire site was brushed out and cleaned up.

At the mouth of the Au Sable in Oscoda, one of the most popular perch fishing sites in the state, the pier has been repaired for convenient walking and a parking area and entrance road with guard rail has been built on the old sawmill foundations.

Outstanding feature of the Lake Macatawa site development is a timber boat slip. At the Douglas site on the Kalamazoo river near Lake Michigan a road and parking area were graded and graveled, and a boat ramp and short pier constructed.

Scarcity of labor and impossibility of getting materials when those on hand are used up this season may require postponement of further public fishing site improvement for the duration. The work is financed with earmarked fishing license funds.

PORTAGE CREEK TO BE WIDENED

Better Drainage Needed For St. Joseph Cemetery

The Escanaba city council last evening agreed to improve the drainage conditions at St. Joseph and St. Anne's cemetery by widening and deepening Portage Creek from the highway bridge on M-35 to the Portage Pond on Bay de Nocquet.

A petition bearing the signatures of 543 Escanaba residents was presented to the council by Fred LaBranche, spokesman for the group, in which the request for the drainage improvement was made.

LaBranche explained to the council that drainage conditions are worse now than in many years past and that improvement is necessary to prevent cemetery graves from being partly filled with water.

City Manager Bean informed the council that the level at Portage Creek, opposite the cemetery, is three feet higher than the present level of the lake, a condition which would permit the deepening of Portage Creek approximately two feet in order to relieve the situation.

It is estimated that the project will require about 170 hours labor with the city's half yard shovel in order to accomplish the job.

Planning Comish Discussed

The council also authorized the construction for the approaching winter of an ice skating rink on the Escanaba Traction Co. property west of the junior high school. Necessary grading will be done this fall so that the rink can be put in proper shape when freezing weather arrives.

The city planning commission proposal was also discussed at some length by the councilmen, but no definite action has been taken. The appointment of personnel was held in abeyance until the next regular meeting of the city council.

City Manager Bean proposed to the council that the city consider a physical appraisal of the city-owned property for insurance purposes. Bean explained that the appraisal would cost $2.50 per $1,00 appraised valuation and estimated the total cost of the appraisal would be between $1250 and $2000. The council agreed to postpone consideration of the proposal until the city's building program, including construction of the pumping stations, has been completed.

The council pondered the problem of whether to permit the establishment of a mink ranch on the outskirts of the city but the matter was laid on the table. Individual councilmen did not appear to take kindly to the suggestion.

Restrictions on the length of trucks that will be permitted for angle parking on the business street probably will be adopted in an ordinance to be submitted to the council at its next regular meeting. Complaints have been received that parked trailer trucks that jut out far in the street have become a traffic menace in the business area.

Capt. L. J. Gallagher, Survives Torpedoing, Is Headed Back For Duty

The army khaki was somewhat puzzling to the old friends and acquaintances of his home town, but the big, broad shouldered man in the uniform was Captain Lawrence J. Gallagher and he was quick to assure them that he had only been ashore a short time and was headed back to the west coast and sea duty again soon. For except for the short years of his boyhood here Captain Gallagher has been a sailor.

His latest cruise, which started out as a short time-killing trip while awaiting the call to naval duty, took him to blazing action spot of the south Pacific, the Coral Sea. It brought brushes with the Japs, narrow escapes from Nippon torpedoes and finally a head wound and crippling of his ship by a German undersea raider of the Atlantic waters.

Last year he was in the Canada to Great Britain service and when the United States was drawn into the war he went to San Francisco, his home for the past ten years or mor, expecting to go back into service with the U. S. navy. In January, while waiting for his navy call, he found himself a berth as commander of one of the army's transport vessels.

His was one of the ships that carried men and materials to New Zealand and Australia for MacArthur. He carried men and materials to Noumeo for the United Nations' occupation of New Caledonia. When the Lexington was sunk he was near enough so that he could see the planes that fought over her and to expect that they would bomb his ship. In the islands he experienced several bombing and machine - gunning brushes with the Japs and on one occasion narrowly missed having his ship torpedoed.

Ship Made Port

After taking part in the concentration of men and materials that led to the Americans' occupation of some of the Solomon Islands he was ordered to take his ship back to the United States, to an east coast port. He brought his ship through the Panama Canal and the Caribbean and into the waters of the Atlantic before a German raider caught him and sent a torpedo crashing into the bow of the ship.

They lost five men, two anchors, part of the ship's bow and Captain Gallagher got a nasty head wound that sent him to the hospital where his scalp was sewed up. But first he succeeded in bringing his damaged ship into a Cuban port.

After he was released from the hospital Captain Gallagher set out, by train, for the west coast hoping that this time he would find a navy commission as a lieutenant-commander waiting for him. Nearing Chicago, he decided to come up to Escanaba for a few days and visit old friends.

It was only three years ago that he paid his last visit but he found some changes in the old town. However, the biggest change was that he found in the train service, the speed of the Chicago-Escanaba trip amazed him.

Here he visited with Joe Garant, who was once one of his shipmates, and looked up old school chums, some of whom remembered him as a wild Irish kid who terrorized them by "scalping" them by cutting the buttons off the tops of their caps. Others last saw him a trim naval lieutenant of the last World War.

Hero Of Last War

He has a double heritage of the blood of sailormen, from the Great Lakes era when it was accepted that ships of the inland seas had to have a Gallagher or a McCauley aboard to carry ore. His father was employed on the lakes boats for years and his grandfather on his mother's side was Captain Patrick McCauley, a well known early day lakes skipper.

He embarked on a sailing career from the old No. 3 dock here back in 1910 and since has cruised the Great Lakes and most of the lanes of the seven salt seas.

When "Kaiser Bill" presented the world with World War No. 1 he enlisted in the navy and had many thrilling experiences as a member of the famous "Suicide Fleet," a name gained from the fact that many failed to return from the actions into which they went. Various countries presented him with nine decorations for bravery in action and after the war he received the decoration of the Order of the Purple Heart for his part in the rescue of survivors of the Norwegian ship, Tyro, which was torpedoed by the German submarine U-111 off Penzance, Cornwall, in January, 1918.

In 1923, Gallagher was picked up by Japanese soldiers while he was in Shantung on suspicion of being a spy. He was brought before a firing squad, but was saved through the timely intercession by an American consul.

He has seen plenty of the world that can be reached by ships, but being an army captain still bothers him. His last ship was army he said, and a swell outfit. Even the gunners were army. "And real men, too . . . beautiful equipment."

Bennett Makes Good Run In The Twelfth

Iron Mountain—Polling almost 5,000 more votes than the combined total of those cast for his three opponents, John B. Bennett, Ontonagon, had easy sailing in Tuesday's primary in which he won the Republican nomination for representative in Congress from the Twelfth district.

Nearly complete returns from the eight counties in the district give Bennett 11,926 and the runner-up, Louis A. Keary, Hancock, polled only 4,114. William J. Keast, Houghton, was third with 1,580 and James Greenfield, Norway, finished fourth with 1,325. Russell Bath, Iron Mountain, forced to withdraw from the contest because of illness, but whose name was printed on the official ballots, received more than 500 votes in the district.

In Houghton county, in which Keary resides, the Hancock attorney got 1,623 votes to Bennett's 2,606, and in Keweenaw county Keary had a margin of 57 votes over Bennett, but in all the other counties it was a one-man show.

Hooks Polls 10,666

STATE TROOPS FORM RESERVES

First Platoon Started At Bark River Will Meet Weekly

Officers of Company 504, Michigan State Troops, are starting to organize reserve units in Bark River, Gladstone, Rapid River, Nahma and Garden and plan to have one platoon located in each place, it was announced last night.

The first organization meeting was last Saturday at the community building in Bark River, where 25 men joined the reserve unit and took their first instruction from the Escanaba officers. Meetings will be held once a week in the community building for drill and instruction. The duties of the members will be to learn the various drills and to be on the lookout for sabotage in their community. In case of an emergency, the platoon will work under the orders of the armory headquarters at Escanaba.

It was announced that there are still openings at the Escanaba armory for men who wish to join the Michigan State Troops or reserves. Those interested are invited to visit the armory Mondays and Wednesdays during the evening drill session, and they may start instruction immediately.

Recently the Escanaba armory received 74 new shotguns, single-shot, repeater and automatic, also three Thompson sub-machine guns firing 600 rounds a minute, on which instruction is being given.

Young men about to join the army or expecting to be called in the draft are invited to come to the armory for instruction in the school of a soldier, giving them the opportunity for more rapid advancement when they receive their army call.

Fishing Is Still A Popular Sport

Lansing—Even in wartime fishing continues one of Michigan's most popular forms of recreation, according to the state conservation department which reports the sale of 645,967 sport fishing licenses up to the first of this month, only four per cent less than were sold in the same period a year ago.

The drop in resident license sales was only two per cent — 513,866 this season compared with 526,165 a year ago, a decrease of 12,299. Non-resident license sales declined more sharply, as was expected, from 149,718 to 132,101, a negative difference of 17,617 or 12 per cent in the eight months.

Increasing complications in travel may prevent further matching of the pace that in all of 1941 sold more than 840,000 sport fishing licenses, department officials say.

DOCTOR IS FREED

Ishpeming—Dr. T. D. Stevenson, former member of the Ishpeming hospital staff and a prisoner of the Japanese since the fall of Manila, has been able to send word home of his release from a concentration camp.

When the refugee ship Gripsholm docked, a Chinese evacuatee carried a note Dr. Stevenson had been able to pass to him.

All missionaries in the camp, he wrote, had been released and in company with four others he was living in a mission house.

Dr. Stevenson wrote thhat he was feeling well, that he and his companions were getting along all right and that they felt fortunate to have been released from the concentration camp.

He and his family spent more than a year in Ishpeming before the doctor determined to return to China as a medical missionary. While here he was in great demand as a speaker because of his experiences and his ability to present his subject.

Junked Locomotive Now Serving Navy

Tacoma, Wash. — Old "One Spot," 31-year-old locomotive of the West Fork Logging company of Tacoma has been scrapped for war steel by order of L. T. Murray, president of the company, and today its 35 tons of steel and iron are part of a destroyer being built at the Seattle-Tacoma shipyard.

Pride of the woods in 1911 when it was hauling logs, the locomotive was the first owned by the company, and it remained the favorite of loggers and their families over the next two decades. When eventually it was retired to a remote rail spur, even sentiment could not hide the fact that its days of apparent usefulness were over.

Becomes Part of Destroyer

But a lot has happened since then, including a scrap emergency which brought old "One Spot" and its 35 otns of rusting iron and steel back into the limelight. From junked locomotive to part of a destroyer became the process in store for the veteran train-puller.

Dismantled and cut into pieces suitable for hauling, it was remelted, molded, shaped into steel plates, sent to the Seattle-Tacoma yards and there made a part of the destroyer then being built.

"One Spot" in New Role

Originally a woodburner converted to coal and then oil, "One Spot" has put rails behind it for a role, in patrolling the seas.

Because of this section's shortage of prime metals, nearly 80 per cent of the iron and steel made here comes from scrap. In cooperation with the War Production Board's Washington Industrial Salvage committee, the Manufacturers' Association of Washington has salvaged more than 14,000 tons of the vitally needed scrap.

Use This Guide For Christmas Mail Overseas

Wide World Features

Washington—Here are the postoffice department's recommendations for Christmas mail to service men outside the United States:

1. Parcels, letters and cards should be mailed between October 1 and November 1—the sooner the better, regardles of where you live or where the article is going. Delivery cannot be guaranteed if it is postmarked after November 1.

2. Gift packages should be marked "Christmas Parcel."

3. Parcels should not exceed 11 pounds in weight or 18 inches in length or 42 inches in length and girth combined. If possible, hold them to six pounds and the size of a shoebox.

4. Don't send food (except hard candies) or clothing. Service men have plenty of both. Don't send anything inflammable like matches or lighter fluid. Don't send intoxicants.

5. Wrap packages substantially but fix them so they may be easily opened for censorship inspection. Be sure that smaller packages, inside the big package, are tightly packed.

6. Postage must be fully prepaid. Consult your postoffice for parcel post rates. Better insure packages.

7. Such messages as "Merry Christmas," "Do Not Open Until Christmas," etc., are permitted if they do not interfere with the address.

8. Don't send cash gifts. Use money orders. Some countries have a law against importing foreign money, but money orders may be cashed anywhere.

Church Events

Christian Science Churches

"Matter" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, September 20.

The Golden Text (II Cor. 6:16) is: "What agreement hath the temple of God with idols?"

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Psalm 46:1, 2): "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 223): "Peals that should startle the slumbering thought from its erroneous dream are partially unheeded; but the last trump has not sounded, or this would not be so. Marvels, calamabound as truth urges upon mor- ities, and sin will much more tals its resisted claims; but the awful daring of sin destroys sin, and foreshadows the triumph of truth. God will overturn, until 'He come, whose right it is'."

SAULT WANTS MORE HOUSING

U. S. Asked to Provide Quarters for 200 Families

Sault Ste. Marie—An immediate federal program to supply emergency housing for at least 200 families will be requested from the federal housing authority, according to a resolution adopted Monday night by the city commission.

Homes, rooms and apartments are virtually impossible to obtain, and an incomplete survey made by City Manager Henry A. Sherman shows that at least 31 families are living in trailers in two local camps, with little, if any provision made for being comfortable during the winter months. Most of these families are here because of the war industry, said Sherman.

Most tourist cabins, many of which are unsuitable for winter living, are filled with war workers, and almost every type of room, apartment, flat and house is filled. The picture we have to show housing authorities is indeed acute and we hope to get immediate action, said Sherman.

AGE LEADS WAY IN LOCAL GOLF

Green and Skellenger, Each 65, Play for Crown

Age, not youth, is having its fling insofar as the Gladstone golf club championship is concerned.

For the finals finds Charles Green and Wm. S. Skellenger, Sr., the two oldest members of the club opposing each other for the title.

Each is 65 years of age.

Skellenger, who has won previous golf honors at various courses, went into the finals by defeating Gus Dehlin, two up.

Green had previously reached the final round by eliminating Ken Bakkum, last year's champion, one-up on the 18th hole of their match. He tied the course record of 35 on the incoming nine.

In the ladies' championship play, Mrs. Walter Erickson, the champion, reached the finals and will play the winner of the match between Mrs. G. W. Jackson and Mrs. Wm. Johnson.

In Wednesday evening's blind bogey, Jim Jones was the winner with 54 minus five for 49. Andrew Canuelle was second with 46 using a 10 handicap and Connie Johnson was third with 42 using no handicap.

LaFramboise, Slip Candidate, Tops In Gladstone Balloting

Although he was running on slips in seeking the Democratic candidacy for state senator from the 30th district, J. A. LaFramboise, city, the incumbent led every other nominee in vote getting in Gladstone during the primary election held Tuesday.

A checkup discloses that LaFramboise garnered a total of 614 votes. The total would have been considerably higher had voters placed the stickers on properly and then made an X in the proper place. Many placed the sticker on the ballot and then forgot to make an X. Others placed the sticker where the spirit moved them for the state senator received votes for almost every office on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

Next in vote getting ability came William Miller, Rapid River, who was opposed by Harland Yelland, Escanaba, for the non-partisan candidacy for probate judge. Miller got 596 to Yelland's 362 in Gladstone.

Miron, unopposed, polled 517, Ohlen 512, Van Wagoner 483, Legg 455 and Strom 432.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

U. S. Steel was unchanged and Bethlehem off a shade. Lower were Chrysler, General Motors, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Goodyear, Boeing, Du Pont, General Electric and Anaconda.

Rails had the benefit of a compilation placing August gross revenues of 89 class 1 roads at 36 per cent above the like 1941 month.

Talk of a near-by consolidation of U. S. Distributing with the parent concern, Pittston Co., was given as an explanation of the run-up during the past several weeks of Distributing senior stock. Brightening prospects for both International Telephone, the day's heaviest traded stock, and American & Foreign Power in Latin America attracted attention to securities of these corporations. Panhandle Producing & Refining, most active stock of the preceding session, continued the second liveliest performer on rumors of cheering oil developments on property to which it holds options.

Carrier loans were the best in the bond department. Commodities were mixed as the president opposed any move to change the present parity formula for farm prices. At Chicago wheat was off ¼ to up 1-8 of a cent a bushel, corn up 1-8 to ¼ and hogs steady to 15 cents higher. Cotton lost 30 to 40 cents a bale.

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—Buyers in increasing numbers turned to railroad bonds today, bidding up many favorites fractions to more than a point with new highs for recent years posted all along the line.

The Associated Press average of 20 rails ended up .3 of a point at 64.3, within easy hailing distance of the year's top at 65.6, established last March when the carrier's were in high favor on prospects of doing the largest business in history during the war. These prospects have since been converted into reality as was attested by the latest report of the Association of American Railroads listing operating revenues of class one carriers at 36.3 per cent higher in August than in the same month last year.

Some of the more active loans (sales from $100,000 to $850,000) were Atlantic Coast Line first 4s at 82 3-4, Central of Georgia 5s at 20¼, Chicago & Alton 3s at 23 7-8, St. Paul Adjustment 5s at 4 1-8, North Western 4 3-4s at 3 3-8, Rock Island 4s at 29 3-4, Rio Grande Western assented 5s at 3 1-8, International Great Northern first 6s at 26 7-8, Lehigh Valley 4s at 33 1-3, Missouri Pacific 5s at 35½, New York Central 3¼s at 63 7-8, New Haven convertible 6s at 47¼, Norfolk & Southern 5s at 32 5-8, St Louis-San Francisco 4½s at 20½ and Southern Pacific refunding 4s at 70.

American & Foreign Power 5s and two International Telephone issues were among others active and higher.

F.D.R. Should Give War Facts - Brown

BY CONSTANTINE BROWN

Washington, D. C. (GMAS) — There is no more distasteful job for the objective newspaper reporter than to have to write critically about the manner in which the war effort is being conducted, but it is better to have critical reporting now than later, when it may serve no purpose.

CONSTANTINE BROWN

Many people outside Washington are anxiously asking what is the matter with the administration? Why are things not going better both on the home and the battle fronts? Where are we going and what are we doing?

Those who write these questions obviously are not defeatists. They are whole-heartedly for a supreme war effort. But they have only a hazy idea about what is going on.

People both in and outside of Washington are in a state of confusion. News is frozen at the source and information on both the domestic and foreign fronts is being spoon-fed to the people. The truth is generally so heavily shrouded in smoke-screen that it is hardly discernible. Military necessities make it necessary to withhold from the people the whys and wherefores of our limping military strategy.

Called "Symbolic Strategy"

The welcome reception of America forces wherever they are sent to the four corners of the world is described in the press, and illustrated with pictures. But the reasons they are there and how they are going to win the war quickly fall into the category of information which would aid the enemy.

Some puzzled military men, when asked about it, describe this dispersion of our relatively meager forces as "symbolic strategy." Others say these forces are "good-will troops" sent to comfort the Fighting French, the British, the Russians, the Turks and many other belligerents and neutrals—with the possible exception of Americans.

The administration does not think it wise to take the nation into its confidence. A few weeks ago Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information sent an urgent appeal to one of the fighting services to release something about an important theater of operations because the public was clamoring for news from that particular theater.

The head of the service sent for some of his officers, showed them the request and told them to give out something which would make a headline, but admonished them to be careful and not give out any factual news. That afternoon the newspapers received a communique of some 200 words containing generalities and platitudes but no actual news.

The people throughout the country hear rumors about inefficiency and all its derivatives in Washington. They are worried and believe the high command is conducting the war haphazardly. The administration in turn complains officially and privately that the country is lackadaisical and unaware of the dangers and difficulties ahead.

Baruch Report Revealing

But while military strategy must be kept secret lest the enemy be forewarned as to our next moves, the lack of foresight of those responsible for the industrial war effort is being kept secret from he nation. Persons who display a pathetic lack of understanding of war problems are still in key positions.

The report of the rubber committee headed by Bernard Baruch is revealing. "The committee," the report said, "has found many evidences of procedure bordering on the chaotic in which non-technical men have made decisions without consulting with subordinates nominally in the positions of responsibility." The word "chaotic" could be applied to many more situations in war production.

Uncle Sam can be likened to a rich man who has met with financial reverses and is making desperate efforts to conceal the fact from his family. Although his bank balance has shrunk and his commitments are heavier than he can bear, he keeps several cars, gives his debutante daughter a grand party and sends his sons to expensive colleges.

The father may have many sleepless nights, not knowing how to make both ends meet. Only occasionally does he warn his children to be careful, because "things are pretty difficult just now." His reluctance to curb the spending of his family arises principally from the fact that he does not know his own people well enough and does not realize that the children would willingly give up their luxuries and go to work if they only knew how bad off their father was.

A similar relationship seems to exist between Uncle Sam and his children. We are being warned to curb spending, buy bonds and pay taxes. But no one in the administration has so far told us in a concrete and blunt manner what is ahead of us. Members of President Roosevelt's official family have told us that we would have rubber galore in a short time, when the few who were really familiar with the problem knew that we could not get it unless we proceeded with the production of synthetic rubber at once, meanwhile drastically curtailing all non-essential motoring.

Fearful of Moral

The suggestion made in some quarters that the President, who has extensive war powers, simply order off the road all automobiles not actually engaged in the war effort was rejected for fear that it might affect the morale of this automobile-minded nation.

Such action carried out without further explanation would unquestionably cause serious grumbling. But if the administration reiterated what the Baruch committee stated in plain language, that unless we have rubber by 1943 we stand a good chance to lose this war, there is no doubt that the nation would have ungrudgingly given up the bulk of its 27,000,000 automobiles.

The reclaimed tires from the laid-up machines would have yielded some 200,000 tons of rubber, a paltry figure before the Japs occupied Malaya and the Netherlands Indies, but a vitally important quantity at the present time, when not 20 percent of the factories we need are being erected for the production of synthetic rubber.

Reluctance to take the children into father's confidence explains public amazement at the news that we do not have sufficient steel to supply the various branches of war production. The country knew that the United States was the greatest steel producing country in the world, and because of the lack of proper explanation does not understand why there is not enough steel for the war industries.

Still Can Be Remedied

The administration is being openly blamed for short-sightedness in allowing huge quantities to be sold to Japan. Rumors of men in key positions in Washington attempting to favor selfish interests are spreading throughout the country and the lame explanations given by the public relations offices are not satisfactory.

Fundamentally, the entire situation, which looks so gloomy now, can be remedied. All that is needed is a heavy hand which will ruthlessly sacrifice all those officials, regardless of how high they may be, who have proved incompetent or lacking in foresight.

Mr. Roosevelt, in whom tremendous powers have been vested, could order such drastic restriction in civilian consumption as to make the country fully aware that we are fighting a "kill-or-be-killed" war. Hitler has done it in the dictatorial manner. The President could do it in the democratic manner, by telling the people frankly that we are up against a terrific combination of enemies, that we are the principal pillar of the United Nations and that unless the people of this country collaborate 100 percent by depriving themselves of most of the things they have been accustomed to have, we stand a grave chance of defeat.

There is no doubt that the American people would respond 100 percent as they have always responded in the past. But in order to obtain this result it is essential that the nation be taken into the confidence of the administration and not be given the impression that bad news is intentionally withheld.

TIGHT SHERIFF RACE

Sault Ste. Marie—Sheriff Robert B. Haugh, chief contender in a nine-way race for the Republican nomination for sheriff in the November election, was assured the nomination by a 116 vote lead over his nearest opponent, Simon P. Crawford in Tuesday's primary election.

Haugh polled 742 votes with all but three of Chippewa's 27 voting precincts reporting last night, to 626 votes for Crawford, who took second place early in the reopening of returns and kept it all the way through. Only Bay Mills, Drummond and Soo township precinct 2 had reported their returns by last night. In the November election Haugh will oppose Otto Hillock who was unopposed for the Democratic nomination. He polled 464 votes.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

PETER IS PERTURBED

CHAPTER VII

Driving up to the hospital Peter gave himself a bad time. To drive was second nature to him, the day was clear and there were no road hazards to claim his attention, he had long hours alone in which to do nothing but think; and his thoughts were grim.

Now that he was away from him and did not have to see him with Candace, the sudden dislike he had taken to Martin seemed inexplicable, his own violent reaction to the fact that Candace liked Martin seemed unreasonable and absurd. Now that he thought about it he realized that most girls did like Martin.

Well, why not? He was good-looking, he could be smooth as oil when he chose and girls, Peter imagined, liked 'em smooth. He could, on the other hand, be moody and mean as sin—and they seemed to go for that too. At any rate whereas women, nurses and patients alike, tended to look on himself as a sort of combination big brother-father confessor, Martin they languished after, growing coy and making sheep's eyes at him. He had to admit, though, that it never seemed to matter to Martin one way or another. Certainly he had never returned their interest.

But then Candace, Peter thought, was as different from most of the shallow girls one met as—as—his practical mind, not given usually to such thoughts, bogged down in its search for a suitable comparison; as different as sunlight from electricity, he managed finally. Martin had certainly seemed to like her. He squirmed at the memory of Martin's hand reaching out to cover hers.

An uneasy suspicion about his own feelings entered his mind. To test it, he tried substituting other men he knew for Martin. What if Trellaney for instance, whom he had always liked and admired, were to meet Candace and—his mind balked at the comparison and then had to admit it—well, fall in love with her; how would he himself like that?

The honest answer was that he wouldn't like it at all, the thought of Trellaney in the role was just as odious to him. He knew, then. He was himself in love with Candace. Not in the brotherly way that he had always taken for granted, but in the way that makes a man want a woman for his own.

That was one reason, he knew now, why other women had never counted in any of his plans or dreams; because always, in the back of his mind, had been the thought of Candace—

When he thought of the way he and Candace had parted he was all for turning back; but that would make him look, he thought, even more ridiculous than his jealous pique with Martin that had caused the breach must have made him appear. He remembered, squirming, the high-handed way he had ordered her about, to prevent her seeing Martin again in the morning. How she must have despised him! He would abase himself completely if by so doing he could erase that memory from her mind.

On the other hand, there was his appointment to be considered. He had lied, of course, in saying that he was expected in on Sunday; he wasn't due really until Monday morning. There was a chance that if he were to turn back immediately, driving like mad all the way, and then turn around and retrace his couse as furiously he could still make it in time. But that would leave little time for explaining things to Candace, and anyway the chance was an extremely slim one.

* * *

It was a 400-mile trip; he could consider himself lucky if the pathetic piece of junk he was driving made it even one way, and under normal driving, without mishap. If it were to break down completely things would be just too bad. He had not enough money for the train fare; his last allowance hadn't come through, somehow, and he hadn't liked the idea of mentioning that to Bruce. And that appointment was important. He didn't want to run the risk of losing it, or of getting off on the wrong foot by being late arriving.

He was in Glens Falls by then, just about the half-way point. He drove slowly through the ugly little business streets, then turned and did it again, trying to make up his mind. He became aware that he was getting light-headed from hunger and he parked the car and went into a lunch wagon. He stoked himself mechanically, not tasting anything, on sandwiches and milk.

There was still this to consider: it would be pointing the thing up, making a big issue of it, if he were to go dramatically back now. Left alone, everybody might forget it, it would be as though nothing had ever happened. Candace was only eighteen after all, still a child. It was only natural, he tried to reassure himself, that she should get an occasional "crush"; she might appear to like Martin a lot at the moment, but she'd get over it.

And Martin? He couldn't be too sure of how Martin would react, of course. But certainly his d.p. assignment ought to keep him plenty busy; even if it didn't, Peter didn't see where Martin would suddenly get money to go flying around; he'd never had any extra cash before. He felt fairly certain that Martin would be in no position to be seeing Candace—"to do any harm," was how he phrased it to himself.

He began to feel better. After all, he'd be away only a couple of months, nothing much could happen in so short a time. He had to go on to the hospital; Candace would be the first to despise him for a fool if he didn't. But just to be sure, first thing he'd do when he got up there was to go feeling around to see what the chances were for getting home on a week-end. Then . . .

* * *

He didn't know quite what it was that he had expected, but it was scarcely what he walked into.

He had arrived soon after seven in the evening, faintly apologetic for being there before he was actually due. He had just been taken into the staff parlor and was on the point of shaking hands with the bridge-playing group assembled there when abruptly they forsook their various lounging poses and shot to their feet. He knew it wasn't for him, the show of deference, and he turned to find that a man who carried with him an aura of authority had entered the room. The men murmured "Good evening, Dr. Stacey," respectfully, and the older man returned it with careless good humor, waving them back into their seats. Standing there, leaning casually on the back of a chair, he reached over and began rearranging the cards held in one of the player's hands. "What's trump?" he demanded, "What tricks have been taken?"

The flurry of explanations took a long time and meanwhile Peter had to stand awkwardly by. The chap who had him in tow, a fellow named Morrison, seemed to regard it all as rather a familiar joke. He smiled at Peter reassuringly and at the first opportunity he broke in. "Dr. Stacey," he said, "here is the first of our summer students, Peter Frazier, just arrived.—Dr. Stacey is our Chief," he added to Peter. Peter knew that and he gulped and felt tongue-tied.

The Chief stared, as though Peter were a specimen of a rare bug. His easy geniality faded. "I'm starting on rounds," he said severely. "I want all of you with me.—You too," he barked at Peter.

PLANE POST TO BE HERE

Aircraft Detection Center To Be At Chamber Building

Manistique's observation post for the aircraft detection service now being set up here will be the chamber of commerce building, E. R. "Ted" Monroe, chief observer, said yesterday. Selection of the chamber of commerce building was made here this week after inspection of other sites by Mr. Monroe, civilian defense, conservation and state police officials here and Major Barnes, Sault Ste. Marie, Sgt. O. H. Knox of the state police, Harold Treat of the conservation department and Corp. Miller, Marquette state police. The chamber of commerce building was finally selected because it would have all facilities needed readily available.

Mr. Monroe announced that three assistant chief observers had been appointed here by him. They are Roy E. Anderson, Thomas Grimsley and George E. Morton.

The observation post here will begin to function as soon as possible. Under the present arrangement, observers would be on duty for a three hour period if during the night and for a four hour period if during the day. It is expected that women will man the post during the daylight hours. Volunteers are needed for the work and those willing to serve were asked by Mr. Monroe to register at the civilian defense office in the chamber of commerce building immediately. If sufficient volunteers are obtained, the various volunteers will only need to work one shift in eight days and it may be possible that they will have to work only one shift in 16 days. The volunteers will be on duty outside the building in proper weather.

Manistique will be the only primary post in this area manned on a full time basis. Secondary posts will be set up throughout the territory under the conservation department and the state police. In these cases, persons living in the area who have the needed facilities will be designated as observers. The secondary posts will probably be set up at Cooks, Thompson, Blaney, Port Inland, Germfask, Seney and possibly several other areas.

County Salvage Program Making Good Progress

Reports of shipments of scrap iron, rubber and rags given to the headquarters of the local salvage drive show that Schoolcraft county residents are backing the government's scrap salvage program with large contributions of material. In July, 280 tons of scrap iron was shipped from here by Charles Isakson, local scrap dealer, and 226 tons of scrap iron was sent on its way to the furnaces in August. Rags totalling 21,916 pounds were shipped from here in July. Rubber totalling 83.3 tons were sent out of here in August and more has been shipped this month with still more to go.

Besides shipments made so far this month additional scrap will go out of here since there still remains some in the WPA yard and other scrap yards here and collections are being continued.

Plans are being made for a scrap drive September 24 and 25 throughout the rural districts of the county. The various community war clubs throughout the county at Cooks, Hiawatha, Thompson, Gulliver, Germfask and Seney have been contacted by the county USDA war board and asked to canvass their areas to determine the amount of scrap available in their territories. The completed data will be turned over to the county salvage for victory committee and the various trucks and drivers cooperating in the campaign will canvass the places listed to collect the scrap materials available there.

Frank Peake, county salvage for victory committee chairman, yesterday urged all persons who have scrap materials, iron, rubber, copper and metals of all kinds to see that the materials are turned over to a scrap dealer and sent on the way to help the United Nations meet the enemy.

Cowman To Speak At Sendoff Party

Clarence Cowman will be the speaker at the sendoff party planned for tonight in the Legion cottage when Schoolcraft county army reservists and other servicemen visiting or stationed here will be the guests of honor. A cordial invitation to all servicemen to attend the party was given here by Mrs. John Grimsley, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Cowman will be introduced to the group attending by Charles Manson, secretary of the chamber of commerce here. Dancing during the evening will be to the music of Gorsche's orchestra. Games also will be available for those who care to use them. Lunch will be served by the Lady Foresters.

Invitations were mailed this week to the reservists, telling them of the party. Those attending are invited to bring their wife or a friend and another couple.

Assistant Coach

Donald Dissinger, a newcomer to the Manistique high school faculty, is assistant football coach of the Emeralds.

City Bowlers, Brault League, To Meet Tonight

Election of new officers of the Manistique bowling association will be the principal business to come before the organization at their meeting this evening at eight o'clock in the Brault alleys. Other action to be taken includes the setting up of rules to be followed during the season and other business also may come before the group.

Vic Remell is president of the association, O. Beauchamp is vice-president and Russell Brault, secretary-treasurer.

All bowlers in the Manistique area are urged to be present at the meeting.

A meeting of the Brault men's bowling league will follow the city association's session. All teams or bowlers who wish to bowl in the Brault league this year are urged to be present at the meeting or get contact with Russell Brault before the session is held.

State Orders Hike In County's Share Of Direct Relief

Schoolcraft county's contribution to the amount of direct relief administered in the county will be raised from five per cent to 15 per cent effective Nov. 1, under the order of the state welfare commission, Arthur C. Adams, director of the Schoolcraft county social welfare board, said yesterday.

Schoolcraft county now is administering from $1,000 to $1,500 each month under the present arrangement. The county's share has been five per cent and the state's contribution to the amount 95 per cent.

When appropriations of state aid for meeting the welfare case load were set up in December, 1939, the county was asked to pay 20 per cent with the state furnishing the remaining 80 per cent of the needed funds. Schoolcraft county could not meet this heavy drain on it during the depression years and in May, 1941, the ratio was changed to five per cent for the county and 95 per cent contribution for the state.

The action was made retroactive to the beginning of the program in 1939. Since then the ratio of the county and state contributions of money for direct relief has remained the same. Action of the welfare commission to increase the county's percentage of contribution was taken by the commission with the thought that the county should contribute a larger part of the amount needed in the area.

The case load of direct relief clients here now is averaging about 100 per month. This is in contrast to a peak of about 400 cases in 1937-38. In addition to the 400 during the time of the peak load, another 500 men and women were employed on WPA projects at that time. Now only 58 are working under the WPA.

Date Chosen For Special Chamber Dinner Occasion

The testimonial dinner being planned to honor certain citizens of the community who have retired from business during the current year will be held at the American Legion cottage, Tuesday evening, September 29, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. The dinner will honor these men who have lived and worked in the county, giving much of their time and energy for the welfare and development of Manistique and the Schoolcraft county area. In addition to several businessmen whom the group has in mind in making arrangements for the affair, others who have played a part in the county's life may also be guests of honor. For this reason, the committee in charge of arrangements for the occasion, are withholding the names of the men to be honored at the affair until a definite list has been prepared.

Preliminary plans for the event were made here last Friday, with committees appointed at that time to select the time and place of the banquet, those to be honored and other features.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Edgecomb and baby returned Tuesday from Ovid and Traverse City where they have been visiting with friends and relatives.

BROWN CLAIM IS STUDIED

Social Welfare Board Asks Prosecutor to Investigate

The Schoolcraft county social welfare board yesterday afternoon for investigation turned over to J. Joseph Herbert, acting Schoolcraft county prosecutor, Auditor General Vernon J. Brown's claim that charges of $1,196 made by James Carefelle for use of a truck were excessive. Herbert stated that he would move promptly in making the investigation to determine what action would be necessary in the case. All of the members of the Schoolcraft county social welfare board were present at the session this afternoon when the matter was discussed. They are Isaac Pawley, Doyle township, chairman; August Carlson, Manistique, secretary, and Hugh R. MacGillis, Manistique, state appointed member of the board.

The state auditor general last Friday told the Associated Press that expense vouchers totalling $1,196 which Carefelle had charged the social welfare board here for use of a private truck were excessive and refused to approve the vouchers. He stated that the auditors of his department and state social welfare commission considered Carefelle's claim for use of the truck were excessive and that the county welfare board had been instructed to dismiss Carefelle, who had contracted to deliver commodities.

Carefell had been employed by the WPA as warehouse superintendent for the surplus commodities in Schoolcraft county after the death of Lloyd Quinn, about a year and a half ago. Previous to his appointment to the post he had been trucking for the surplus commodities and he continued in the work after becoming warehouse superintendent. Since the federal food stamp plan went into effect in August, 1941, however, the hauling has been confined to deliveries to schools for hot lunch projects. The county social welfare board has been paying him for his services as trucker.

Evan S. Nelson, surplus commodities supervisor for the Upper Peninsula, raised the question that charges which the board had been paying Carefelle were excessive and the local welfare board brought the matter to the attention of the state welfare commission, which made an audit, then stating that the charges, in their opinion, were excessive and instructing the local board to dispense with Carefelle's service as a trucker. The surplus commodities warehouse here also has been closed and the position of warehouse superintendent discontinued. Distribution of the surplus commodities hereafter will be handled from Gladstone together with Delta and Alger counties' surplus foods.

The $1,196 which the state claims is excessive has all ready been paid to Carefelle and was given him with other amounts during the period from September 1, 1941, to July 31, 1942, board members said.

The United States produces approximately 3,500,000 pounds of artificial silk annually.

Cattle Experts To Visit County Next Saturday

Dr. C. F. Huffman, Clarence Cole and A. C. Duncan will be in Schoolcraft county Saturday, September 19, working with J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, examining herds where farmers are having trouble raising calves. For some unknown reason calves are dying in spite of the fact that they are receiving good care and adequate feed. During the past winter some of these calves have been saved by giving them Cobalt Sulphate, a mineral which seems to be deficient in home grown feeds, however, this did not show results in all cases. By taking blood samples from the animals for analysis and also analyzing the feed, Dr. Huffman and his assistants hope to be able to correct the trouble, Mr. Heirman said.

American cheddar cheese and apples—an old-fashioned combination for dessert—is high in nutritional value.

Bums Slip Another Notch As Cards Cut Loose And Win In Ninth

Opportunity Knocks, But Those Dodgers Are Out

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

Brooklyn, Sept. 17 (AP)— Just when it seemed opportunity was knocking for the Brooklyn Dodgers today, they were out.

Aware that the St. Louis Cardinals were trailing the Braves until the ninth inning, the Bums, visioning a chance to cut the Redbird lead to a single game, apparently tightened up like a kettle-drum and stumbled their way to a 3 to 2 defeat at the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Cards came on to win their game eventually, and Dodger fans gazed mournfully at the three-game margin of the St. Louis team and shook their heads hopelessly.

The 34-year-old Truett Sewell was the villain of the play as far as the Dodgers were concerned today. Two or three times he was in more trouble than a draft dodger, but on all but one occasion he eased out of the jams unscathed. Three of the eight hits he allowed came in the fourth inning and accounted for Brooklyn's two runs.

Ed Head was the Dodger starter, and he was the wrong man. The Bucs plastered him for six hits and all their runs in less than two innings, and by the time Max Macon started to southpaw the Pirates into submission the damage had been done. Macon allowed only two hits in the 7 2-3 innings he worked.

The crowd of 11,658 had a premonition of what was coming when three cheap hits brought the Bucs one run in the first inning.

The Dodgers filled the bases in their half of the first, but that's all they did, while the Bucs came right back in the second to add two more scores.

Macon came in to relieve Head, and he had the Bucs nibbling out of his hand the rest of the way.

The Dodgers' big fourth inning saw the two runs coming in. They never got more than one man on base in any one inning thereafter, although it took a great one-handed stab by Wasdell of Reese's drive in the eighth to keep the champions from registering at least one more run.

Cellar Dwellers Nicked for 12 Hits; Wyse On Mound

Philadelphia, Sept. 17, (AP)— The Chicago Cubs wound up their season in the east today by jumping on the cellar dwelling Phils for 12 hits and an 8-0 shutout.

Henry Wyse, making his second start in the box for the Cubs since being recalled from Tulsa, allowed only eight hits in his second triumph.

HOMER IN FIFTH TUMBLES TIGES

DiMag's Circuit Clout No. 20 Gives Yanks 7 to 4 Decision

Detroit, Sept. 17 (AP)— Joe Di Maggio's three run homer in the fifth inning, his 20th of the season, provided the New York Yankees with their winning margin today as the American league champions cuffed the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 4, in their final meeting of the season.

The defeat, 11th in succession at the hand of the Yankees, shoved the Tigers deeper into fifth place, 2½ games behind the fourth place Cleveland Indians, who defeated the Washington Senators today, 6 to 5, in eleven innings.

DiMaggio's clout, coming with two out in the fifth and the score tied at 2-all, was the pay-off blow in New York's 12-hit assault off two Detroit pitchers, Dizzy Trout and Virgin (Fire) Trucks.

Trout Is Victim

Trout, who started and gave up seven hits before being lifted for a pinch-hitter after DiMaggio's blow, was charged with his 18th defeat. It was his first appearance on the mound since being set down for five days by the club for thumbing his nose at the spectators last Friday.

Atley Donald, who went all the way for the Yanks today, was touched for ten safeties, including Dixie Parsons' homer in the second. By winning, Donald carved out his tenth triumph of the year and brought the Yankees their 15th victory of the 22-game schedule with the Tigers.

Detroit opened the scoring in the first inning when Doc Cramer singled, advanced on an error by Joe Gordon and scored on Rudy York's single, Parsons' circuit clout was good for another Detroit run in the second.

New York shaved the lead in the third when Phil Rizzuto doubled, went to third on Red Rolfe's infield hit and scored when Trout throw wild to the plate. Rolfe tried to take second on the pay, but was out, Parsons to Johnny Lipon to end the inning.

Joe Keller's triple in the fourth was wasted as Trout forced Rollie Hemsley to bounce Dutch Meyer for the third out.

Gerald Priddy walked to open the Yankee fifth, moved to second on Donald's sacrifice and to third on a passed ball. After Rizzuto fanned for the second out Rolfe drew a pass. Roy Cullenbine singled to right, scoring Priddy and sending Rolfe to third. Then DiMaggio smacked No. 20 into the right field pavilion seats to give the Yanks a 5 to 2 edge.

No. 100 For Champs

New York got another in the sixth off Trucks when Hemsley singled to greet the New Tiger tosser, moved to second when Priddy walked, stole third and came home as Donald hit into a double play.

Hemsley started things off again in the eighth with another single and scored when Priddy and Donald followed suit.

The Tigers, limited to three hits in five innings after the second, shoved over their third marker in the eighth on Cramer's walk, a double by Don Ross and York's single. Dutch Meyer, who banged out three hits during the game, opened the ninth with a double to left and scored when Charley Gehringer batted for Lipon and socked a single to center.

The Yankees, registering their 100th victory of the season, stretched their own American league record to eight years in which they have won as many as 100 games.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Escanaba, Bessemer, Wakefield and Stambaugh have open dates this weekend, but virtually all of the remaining U. P. football teams are scheduled for action. Because some of the teams are scheduled to play floodlight games tonight, we are presenting our weekly predictions today rather than Saturday. Some of the teams are making their first start of the season, which complicates the task of forecasting the winners.

Peshtigo at St. Joseph—We like St. Joseph on this one, despite their 19-0 defeat last week.

Negaunee at Manistique—The Emeralds for Victory No. 2.

Gladstone at Munising—Opener for the Braves, and a tough one, too, but we're picking them to come through.

Menominee at W. G. Bay—We had this one picked for last week, and haven't changed our mind. West Green Bay.

Norway at Iron River—Coach Damschroeder is having his troubles as new coach of the Redskins. This one looks like another headache for him. Norway, at least two touchdowns.

Ironwood at Iron Mountain—The Red Devils have an unusually big team. We'll give them the nod over the Mountaineers.

Marquette at Newberry—The edge for the Graveraets.

Crystal Falls at Baraga—Victory for Eddie Chambers.

Kingsford at Calumet—Calumet has Joe Sossi, 165 pounds of lightning. That's why we put the blue chips on Calumet.

Ishpeming at Soo — Both teams lost last weekend. We figure the Blue Devils for this one.

Stephenson at Niagara — Coach Brunelle's debut as Stephenson coach . . . and his first victory.

The St. Louis Cards have tossed a monkey wrench into the carefully laid plans for the world series. Until last week, it was considered a foregone conclusion that Brooklyn would win the National League flag to meet the Yankees in a subway series that would involve no transportation problem. Special trains were chartered in past years to move the teams, writers, officials, etc., between World Series cities, but special trains are ruled out now by the ODT. Series receipts also are likely to be affected by the shift from Brooklyn to St. Louis—assuming the Cards are able to hold their present lead. Many fans are unable to understand the attitude of the Red Cross in rejecting the offer for half of the net receipts.

After learning that many of his players are not in good physical condition, Coach Curly Lambeau has ruled out malted milks and milk shakes for his Packer gridmen. To work off the excess weight, Lambeau ordered the Packers to do four laps around the drill field Tuesday and promised a lot more hard work before the game with the Chicago Baers Sunday, Sept. 27. The Packers will be fired up for the Bears game and probably will be in the peak of condition by that time. The Green Bay players will be close to the radios when the Bears tangle with the Eastern Army All-Stars in Boston Sunday.

SPARTAN TEAM LOOKS RAGGED

Bachman Puts Gridders Through Season's First Scrimmage

East Lansing, Sept. 17. (AP)— Michigan State's football squad drove through its first scrimmage of the season today and excepting the efforts of a few veterans the performance left the Spartan coaches with long faces.

Head Coach Charley Bachman declared the squad generally gave a "typically ragged" first showing. He admitted, however, that such holdovers as halfbacks Wally Pawlowski and fullbacks Morgan Gingrass and Ed Ripmaster had lost none of their old steam.

Fumbles and missed assignments marred the lengthy scrimmage, but the coaches mainly were concerned over the erratic passing on both teams. Tossers, lacking adequate protection, consistently loosed wild heaves.

Pawlowski, 150-pound senior shook loose on a 30-yard touchdown jaunt, longest run of the scrimmage. He and Gingrass, who also punched over a score, were teamed with quarterback Bill Milliken and halfback Dick Kieppe in the No. 1 backfield.

Ripmaster, performing in the opposing backfield, showed no trace of a knee injury which benched him all of his junior season as he plunged to several long gains. Edo Mencotti, Detroit sophomore fullback, scored the only touchdown for the second team.

An all - sophomore backfield started for the second team including Bob Otting of Lapeer, quarterback, Roy Dygert of East Lansing, and Bill Gaylord of Pontiac, halfbacks, and Walt Beardsley, of Beaverton, fullback.

Young And Mize On Warpath; Reds Whipped 11 to 1

New York, Sept. 17, (AP)—Babe Young and Johnny Mize went on the warpath today with the result the New York Giants walloped the Cincinnati Reds 11 to 1 in the final game of the season between the two clubs.

Young hit his eleventh homer and three singles to send seven of the Giants' runs across the plate. Mize accounted for the remainder with a double and two singles. Between them they collected seven of the 12 hits the Giants got off Elmer Riddle, Gene Thompson and Clyde Shoun, who didn't help the Reds' cause any by hanging out nine walks.

Rookie Harry Feldman checked the Reds with five hits for his seventh win. The victory also snapped the Reds' winning streak at six games.

Detroit, Sept. 17 (AP)— Matchmaker Nick Londes announced tonight the signing of Bob Pastor, New York heavyweight, to meet Buddy Scott of Tampa, Fla., in the ten-round main event of a boxing show Sept. 25 at Olympia stadium. Pastor holds two previous decisions over Scott.

In Pastor's last appearance here in 1939 he was stopped in 11 rounds by heavyweight champion Joe Louis.

Tex Hughson Clicks Off 20th Triumph, Takes Browns 5-1

St. Louis, Sept. 17 (AP)— Tex Hughson joined the 20-game winner class today as he pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 5 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Browns. Tex has lost only six contests.

Ted Williams hit his 33rd home run of the season for Boston in the first inning and George McQuinn got his 12th homer in the seventh for the Browns' only run.

Cubs And White Sox Open Series Sept. 30

Chicago, Sept. 17. (AP)—K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, announced today the Chicago Cubs and White Sox would open a four-out-of-seven game city series Sept. 30 at Wrigley Field, home park of the National league club.

They will meet again Oct. 1 at Wrigley Field, Oct. 2 and 3 in night games at Comiskey Park, and Oct. 4 at Wrigley Field. If the rest of the contests are needed they will be played Oct. 5 and 6 in the Sox park under the lights.

Savold Is Avenged Against Tony Musto In Detroit Olympia

Detroit, Sept. 17 (AP)— Blond Lee Savold of Des Moines avenged himself tonight against squat Tony Musto of Chicago by punching out a decision in ten slow-moving rounds by 4,000 fans at Olympia stadium. Sovald weighed 193 and Musto 200.

Savold, who lost a split decision to Musto last month in Washington, floored the Chicagoan with a short right for a nine count in the tenth round for the only knockdown. He received the unanimous verdict of Referee Sam Hennessy and two judges.

Fighting out of a crouch, Musto rarely took the offense, but Savold failed to find the range until the late rounds. At the finish Musto's right eye was nearly closed from a bombardment of left jabs.

In another ten-rounder, Big Boy Brown, of Detroit, 246 pound cousin of Joe Louis, gained an unanimous decision over Pat Comiskey of Paterson, N. J., who weighed 218. That squared accounts for Comiskey's recent victory at Toledo.

In other bout Chuck Hirst, 148, Detroit, knocked out Johnny Jones, 149, Pittsburgh, (5); Lou Woods, 149, Detroit, knocked out Johnny Ousky, 145, Toledo, (5); Ed Sarkesian, 179, Detroit, decisioned Hank Postaway, 176, Wyandotte, Mich. (6)

U. P. GRID RACE IS SHAPING UP

Only Three Teams Have 3 Victories So Far This Season

Iron Mountain—The elimination process, which will eventually wind up with one or more teams claiming the mythical high school football championship of the Upper Peninsula, is on.

Although several teams, including Gladstone and Menominee, have not opened their season, there are 10 left on the undefeated list out of an original list of 25.

Only three teams — Bessemer, Stambaugh and Houghton—have two wins to their credit. The other seven have played but one game. Young as is the season, two teams stand out as main threats to claim the title. They are the co-champions of last year—Bessemer and Escanaba. Bessemer has rolled over two foes by impressive scores and Escanaba made a surprising 31-6 stand against Soo Saturday to warn the U. P. that Escanaba will be back in the running for the fourth straight season.

And on grounds based on nothing but observations, Calumet is regarded as third in the "threat" line on he list of 10 undefeated squads. Though the season is much too early to begin drawing any championship pictures, the Menominee range has three in the unbeaten and untied ranks. They are Stambaugh, Kingsford and Iron Mountain.

Records against Michigan foes are:

CRISLER SHOWS CROWD FIGURES

Wolverine Fans Mainly In Ann Arbor, Says Michigan Coach

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 17. (AP)—Athletic Director H. O. Crisler hauled statistics from his files today which showed, he said, more tire rubber would be saved if Michigan home football games are played in Ann Arbor than if they were moved to Detroit.

Michigan officials have scrutinized the whole situation carefully since Joseph Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation announced he was urging colleges to move big games to "centers of population" as a tire and transportation conservation measure.

Crisler cited statistics from the 1941 Minnesota game when all tickets were sold out in advance and the addresses of all buyers recorded.

The figures disclosed that Ann Arbor itself contributed a greater number of spectators of Wolverine contests than does any other single city, including Detroit itself.

10,000 Student Fans

Among the more than 84,000 fans who saw the Gophers play here, 16,351 were from the city of Ann Arbor, including some 10,000 students, while from Detroit there were but 12,426.

"Our most enthusiastic and rabid football fans are students themselves," Crisler declared. "If our games were moved to Detroit virtually every student would make an effort to attend there and the resulting transportation problem would be worse than it would be with several thousand persons coming out from Detroit for each game."

In this same Minnesota crowd there were 9,943 persons from other cities which are geographically closer to Ann Arbor than to Detroit. Only 3,551 persons came from cities closer to Detroit than to Ann Arbor.

"Thus, of the persons from Michigan in the stands that day 25,294 found it more convenient to have the contest in Ann Arbor than Detroit. For 15,977 it would have meant less travel had the game been held in Briggs Stadium," Crisler summarized.

"I can only conclude that we can best cooperate with the government by holding our games right here in Ann Arbor as scheduled."

Victory Gives St. Louis 3-Game Lead On Pennant

BY BILL KING

Boston, Sept. 17 (AP)— After hanging on by their fingernails for eight innings, St. Louis' stubborn Cardinals seized their first real opportunity with both fists and cut loose a five run rally in the ninth today to pull out a 6-4 win over the Boston Braves and go three games up on their Brooklyn Dodger pennant rivals.

Until that late stage, the Cards appeared ear-marked as Al Javery's 13th victims of the season. Up to then, the able right hander gave them only five hits and started the final frame with what appeared to be a safe 3-1 lead.

When Catcher Walker Cooper launched the Cardinals' victory drive, few of the crowd of 4,347 were impressed. As leadoff batter, he reached first base by poking a feeble bunt down the third base line that took an erratic hop as Javery tried to field it. This apparently shook the confident Javery slightly, for he then passed Johnny Hopp.

When Cooper was forced at third as Whitey Kurowski reached on a fielders' choice, Manager Billy Southworth set out to outsmart Javery. The Cards' pilot sent in Ray Sanders to pinch hit for Marty Marion, who had scored the first St. Louis run after tripling in the fifth. Sanders hit the first ball pitched to right for a single to score Hopp and advance Kurowski to third.

Then Southworth put in Erv Dusak to run for Sanders and Ken O'Dea to bat for southpaw Howie Pollet, who had relieved starter Johnny Beazley with none out and two on in the third.

O'Dea caught the Braves flat-footed with a squeeze bunt that pushed Kurowski across with the tying run—and still the panic went on. Ernie White, who beat the Braves yesterday, went in to run for O'Dea and was forced at second by Jimmy Brown. But Sebby Sisti bobbled Harry Walker's grounder and Dusak came all the way home to put the Cards in front.

Enos Slaughter shot a single into left scoring Brown and giving Javery a one-way ticket to the showers.

Lefty Will Donovan took over and was greeted by a single by Coaker Triplett, pinch-hitting for Stan Musial. This pushed Walker home with the final run, for Triplett was picked off first base to end the spree.

The Braves came right back in their half of the ninth and sent Max Lanier, who replaced Pollet, to the showers in a hurry with a single and a walk. Harry Gumbert came in and was tagged by a single by Nanno Fernandez for a run. But at that point, with the tying tallies on base and only one out, large Ernie Lombardi was able only to roll into a game-ending double play.

FLAG ABOUT CINCHED

(By The Associated Press)

The St. Louis Cardinals are three full games in front of Brooklyn in the National league pennant race today (Thursday), and it appears that only a major collapse can keep them from the championship.

By knocking over the Boston Braves 6-4 yesterday, while Brooklyn lost a 3-2 decision to Pittsburgh, the Cards boosted their lead by one full game and showed two games in front on the all-important losing side in the standings.

The Brooklyns have a chance to pick up half a game today by taking on the Phillies while the Cardinals are idle, travelling west.

Here is the situation now:

Walk Gives Reds 6-5 Victory Over Senators In 11th

Cleveland, Sept. 17, (AP)—The Indians galloped off with an 11-inning 6 to 5 victory over Washington today when Sid Hudson came to the mound, allowed two hits, gave an intentional pass, and then forced in the winning tally by walking pinch hitter Buster Mills.

Hudson had relieved rookie Ray Scarborough. Ken Keltner and Jeff Heath, the latter getting his fourth hit in as many times at bat, nicked Hudson for singles. Les Fleming, whose three-run homer in the third had tied up the game for the first time, was passed to get at Oscar Grimes. Mills came to the plate, however, watched three balls and a called strike down the middle, and waited for the final pitch of the game.

Chicago, Sept. 17, (AP)—Roger Wolff turned in a two-hit performance today while the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Chicago White Sox, 1 to 0, in their final appearance of the season at Comiskey Park. Only 487 persons witnessed the game.

Wolff's victory was earned at the expense of rookie lefthander Lem Perme, who made his first start for the Chicago team and allowed only four hits. It was Wolff's 12th victory against 16 defeats.

GRUBER NAMED CHIEF WARDEN

Will Succeed Wes Ayres As Head of Escanaba Air Raid Squad

Harry J. Gruber, 511 South Second avenue, has been recommended as chief air raid warden of the city of Escanaba, to succeed Wesley Ayres who has asked to be relieved because of the press of other duties, City Defense Commander George E. Bean has announced.

Ayres requested to be relieved of the duties of the chief air raid warden because his occupation requires him to be out of the city a considerable portion of the time.

Gruber has been serving as one of the two group air raid wardens in the community. No successor has been recommended yet for that position.

The appointments are made by the state civilian defense organization upon recommendation of the local civilian defense organization.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

It is the soldier's wife—rather than the soldier—who is getting most of the advice on how to hold a marriage together during wartime separation.

But the job isn't all the wife's. The husband has to help too.

He shouldn't assume that because he is the one who has to do the fighting every decision his wife makes should be decided on the basis of what will give him the greatest peace of mind.

For instance, he might like to have his wife live with his parents, thinking that he'll worry about her less if he knows she is living in the home in which he grew up.

That sounds fine —but it is the wife who will have to live with in-laws and make all the adjustments. If the wife thinks she would be happier living alone, or with another "duration widow"—the husband ought not to object.

If the situation were reversed —he probably wouldn't want to move in with her mother and father.

Also he might rather have her not working at all. Perhaps he'd prefer she do office work instead of taking over a man's job in a factory. But if she feels that helping to build airplanes will give her greater peace of mind than loafing or holding down a nonessential job, then he ought not to object to her going into a factory.

EACH MUST UNDERSTAND OTHER'S FEELINGS

After all, she understood why he had to volunteer. It isn't too much for her to expect him to understand that she also feels she has to help win the war.

Those are just examples of the many problems that couples face when the husband leaves home to get into uniform. If they are all decided from the husband's rather than from the wife's point of view the marriage is bound to suffer.

For the best marriage relationship the rights and feelings of both husband and wife have to be respected in war as well as in peacetime.

VACATION LEAGUE MEETS

Houghton—Those interested in the tourist business, directly or indirectly, were given some pertinent facts in relation to the future prospects of the industry in this district last night at the annual meeting of the Copper Country Vacation league, held in the Douglass House. Officers for the ensuing year were elected and annual reports read. Bert Engstrom of Calumet was elected president. Slightly more than 80 persons attended.

Among the speakers on the program were Clint B. Dunathan, of Escanaba, public relations director with the State Highway department in the U. P., and George E. Bishop of Marquette, secretary-manager of the U. P. Development Bureau. The meeting was opened by John N. Hamar, retiring president of the league, who presented the toastmaster, G. T. Murphy, president of the Calumet Chamber of Commerce, who capably handled the program.

GIDEONS TO RALLY

Iron Mountain — With special services scheduled to be held in approximately 35 churches in Marquette county, the annual fall rally of the Wisconsin and Upper Michigan division of The Gideons will be held in Marquette Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 24 and 25, with headquarters at the Clifton hotel.

About 50 members of the Gideon organization in the division are expected to attend, and places will be set for 125 at a rally dinner to be served in the Clifton Saturday evening. Pastors in Marquette county will be guests at the dinner, which will be preceded by a short business meeting.

Gideon laymen will be speakers at services in nearly all churches in the county Sunday. Among many officials to attend the rally will be Harold Lindahl, Iron River, division president, and Alfred E. Lewis, Eau Claire, president of Gideon international.

FOUGHT AT MIDWAY

Iron Mountain—Shot out of the air at 5,000 feet, and picked up by an Allied destroyer after an hour and a half in the chilly waters of the Pacific is just one experience of Seaman First Class William C. Pavey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Pavey, 308 East A street, who is home on a 25-day furlough after active service in the Pacific war zone.

"Bill" Pavey enlisted in the Navy April 23, 1941, and received his preliminary training at Great Lakes. He was transferred to an aviation trade school at Detroit, where he remained four months, and then to Quoncet Point, Rhode Island, where he received his first flight training.

Completing his work in Rhode Island he was transferred to the Hawaiian islands, and assigned as a gunner in a PBY-5 bomber. Pavey's post of duty is in the "blister," or glass-enclosed gun-turret on the side of the ship.

AUTOMOTIVE HINT

Broken automobile springs usually can be traced to loose clips. The center of the leaf bears the load when the clip works loose, and it is only a matter of time until a spring breaks.

HOW IT WAS NAMED

Zero hour, or the hour set for attack in World War I operations, derived its name from its being set down as "0 hour" in advance, with the real time being kept secret as long as possible.

SOLE SURVIVOR

Only survivor of Custer's army, after the battle of the Little Big Horn, was Comanche, a buckskin horse. His mounted skin now stands in the museum of the University of Kansas.

The world's largest producer of Parmesan cheese, originally an Italian type, is located in Wisconsin.

AGED UNDERTAKER DIES

Houghton— August L. Krellwitz, 82, esteemed lifelong Houghton resident and dean of Copper Country undertakers, died at an early hour Monday morning at his home on North Huron street after a long illness. Although his death was not unexpected it came as a severe shock to his many friends throughout the Copper Country.

Mr. Krellwitz was born in Houghton on Nov. 25, 1860, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Krellwitz, who were well known Copper Country pioneer residents. Mr. Krellwitz attended the local school and at an early age began work as an embalmer for Ed. Siller, sr., Houghton undertaker, and later worked for Shelden & Lang, also a Houghton undertaking firm.

CITY ASKS U. S. AID

Sault Ste. Marie—An effort to obtain federal assistance for the Sault which has expanded beyond anticipating, and perhaps as high as 55 per cent above normal, is to be made during the next few days by city commissioners and Manager Henry A. Sherman.

Because of Sault's unprecedented expansion, additional water pumping facilities will be needed; there has been wear and tear on streets, repair of which may at some day be beyond the ability of taxpayers to stand, and there has been an increase in other services, it was pointed out Monday night by Sherman to city commisioners.

Sherman's story began to unfold with the opening of bids for an additional water pumping unit. He said the city is supplying all of the water for all military and defense, which necessarily has increased the load on present equipment. Several miles of water lines have been extended and although the load is not too great now for the present equipment, it may within a few months be a problem, said Mr. Sherman.
